HANNA LEADING NYE IN NORTH DAKOTA'S SENATE PRIMARIES

Earlier Returns, However, Are From Coolidge Man's Territory.

SENATOR IS STRONG IN WESTERN REGIONS

Graham, Incumbent, Running Well Ahead of His Congress Opponent.

Fargo, N. Dak., June 30 (By A. P.).—United States Senator Gerald P. Nye, seeking nomination for both short and long terms in today's Republican primary election, was running behind on the returns tabulated tonight.

L. B. Hanna, Independent, or Coolidge candidate for the nomination, held the lead in both contests.

The initial figures, however, came from the cities, which always have been conceded as Republican strongholds. Strength of the non-partisan league, which supported Nye, is mainly in the rural district, which always report late.

How Figures Stand.

With 165 precincts reported at midnight, Hanna had a lead of 3,596 over Nye in the race for the long term. The figures gave Hanna 10,184; Midtbo, 258; Nye, 6,678; Stone, 2,441.

In the special senatorial election for the term ending March 3, 1927, Hanna had 5,578 to 4,157 for Nye and 1,428 for Stone.

Although Hanna had a substantial majority from the first precincts to report, Nye showed surprising strength in some normally independent strongholds, and may overcome Hanna's lead when returns from the western districts are received.

Governor Race Close.

Returns were slow. A few scattered precincts from west of the Missouri river, normally nonpartisan, showed Maj. J. M. Hanley, Mandan, Independent, giving Gov. A. G. Sorlie, nonpartisan, a close race for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

In the gubernatorial contest, 82 precincts gave Hanley 4,661; McGovern, 198; Sorlie, 4,104.

Representative Thomas Hall, incumbent (Coolidge Republican), had a substantial lead over Fred Graham, nonpartisan, for the Republican congressional nomination in the Second district. Twenty-two out of 756 precincts in the district gave Hall, 1,947; Graham, 842.

Townley Apparently Failed.

Efforts of friends of A. C. Townley, Nonpartisan league founder, to make him the Republican candidate for governor through a "sticker" campaign, apparently failed.

With returns from 85 counties available tonight the former Nonpartisan chieftain had received just one vote, that being reported from Grand Forks county.

The Townley campaign was launched several days ago, when his friends sent out stickers bearing his name.

Millionaire, 62, Weds Former Girl Clerk, 27

Baltimore, Md., June 30 (By A. P.).—After a romance of one year, Miss Martha Wilson Stanford, until recently a clerk in the Baltimore custom house, today became the bride of Edward W. Davis, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., millionaire chain store owner. The marriage license gave the bride's age as 27; and that of Davis as 62.

The couple will sail on the Leviathan within a few days for a honeymoon in Europe.

Prison Superintendent White Critically Ill

Portland, Oreg., June 30 (By A. P.).—Luther C. Attending physicians said he was in a state of coma and had but a slight chance of recovery.

Rivers Bill Is Laid Over; Plan to Adjourn Saturday

Vote on Ending Congress Session to Follow Deficiency Measure Passage Today; Radio Legislation Is Left in Doubt.

By ALBERT W. FOX.

Adjournment sine die of Congress day after tomorrow now appears virtually assured. The controversial question of disposing of the rivers and harbors bill, which kept all adjournment plans up in the air, was ironed out in the Senate shortly before 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, thus paving the way for the Senate acceptance of the resolution already framed by the House ways and means committee, providing for adjournment at 3 p. m. Saturday. The House resolution will be acted upon as soon as the Senate passes the deficiency bill.

After a day of negotiations between leaders of various groups interested for or against the rivers and harbors bill, the following unanimous consent agreement was proposed by Senator Jones, of Washington, the Republican whip, and adopted:

"Ordered, by unanimous consent, that the bill, H.R. 11616 (the rivers and harbors bill), be made a special order for December 14, 1926, at 2 o'clock p. m., and that after the hour of 2 p. m. on the calendar day of December 20, 1926, no Senator shall speak more than once or longer than one hour upon the bill, or more than once or longer than 30 minutes upon any amendment; and that after 3 o'clock p. m. on December 21, 1926, no senator shall speak more than once or longer than 15 minutes on the bill or any amendment. The bill shall not be laid aside except by unanimous consent."

With this matter out of the way, the rest of the Senate's program is smooth sailing. The deficiency bill has been reported, and will be taken up today. The radio bill remains the unfinished business with its ultimate fate in doubt.

Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, approved the unanimous consent agreement, inasmuch as efforts were being made to adjourn Congress on Saturday, he said, this seemed to be the best disposition to make of the bill. The Senator added that he was heart and soul for the bill, but was convinced the interests of those who favored the bill would not be jeopardized by postponing consideration in the manner set forth by the agreement.

Senator Simmons said the agree-

LENROOT, ALWAYS A DRY, ASKS BEER REFERENDUM

Senator Declares Wisconsin Proposal No Violation of Constitution.

WILL SUPPORT MAJORITY

Ripon, Wis., June 20 (By A. P.).—After having been glassed as a "dry" in his official life, Senator Irvine L. Lenroot tonight asked a referendum vote on modification of the eighteenth amendment in opening his campaign for nomination for another term in the Senate.

Senator Lenroot's opponent, Gov. John J. Blaine, seeking nomination as a progressive, has indicated in various utterances his disapproval of summary legislation.

"I voted to submit the eighteenth amendment," Senator Lenroot said, "I have voted for all legislation, which has been enacted for its enforcement and shall continue to do so."

"We must all admit, however, that conditions are not as good as we expected when the amendment was adopted. I believe the senators and representatives from Wisconsin would welcome a definite expression through an official referendum upon this question because it affects the personal habits of the people."

"If the majority should be in favor of modification, I should support it in the Senate, believing that it would not violate the eighteenth amendment."

The modification referred to is contained in the referendum order by the Wisconsin legislature and would permit beverages containing 2.75 per cent alcohol.

The senator asserted that as long as he was a member of the Senate he "would not vote for any legislation that violates the eighteenth amendment."

ENGINEERING FORCES IN CHICAGO GO OUT

"White-Collar Strike" May Tie Up $10,000,000 in City's Projects.

Chicago, June 30 (By A. P.).—A "white collar" strike, the first among professional engineering employees of the city, today tied up approximately $4,000,000 in bridge construction and promised to affect a total of $10,000,000 in projects.

Technical engineers of the board of public improvements, health and building departments, draft and municipal incinerator employees, numbering more than 700, walked out in an attempt to enforce demands for increased pay.

City projects on which work ceased included: A $2,000,000 water tunnel; the $2,500,000 Western avenue pumping station; water pipe extension work totaling $650,000; bridges to cost in excess of $4,000,000.

The engineers seek a 30 per cent wage increase, their scale now ranging from $160 to $650 a month.

ATTEMPT TO KILL KING ALFONSO FOILED IN PARIS

Spanish Rulers, in London, Are Put Under Heavy Guard at Once.

TWO ANARCHISTS SEIZED

Paris, July 1 (By A. P.).—The Matin asserts that the life of King Alfonso of Spain was menaced while in Paris by five men who came from Argentina. The men had passports issued at Buenos Aires.

The plotters were rounded up by the police. Two of them proved to be Spaniards and notorious anarchists—Abadía Francisca Ascaro and Bonaventura Duretti. Ascaro attempted to fire upon the police, but was overpowered.

Both conspirators, the police say, confessed that they had come to Paris expressly to kill Alfonso. The prisoners were found to have ample funds, three carbines and 240 cartridges.

Ascaro refused to explain from whom he received the 1,000 pesos found on him.

The pair's accomplices have not yet been arrested.

The Matin says Ascaro was found in the possession of a receipt for an automobile. The machine was of Italian make and Ascaro is said to

DUD GRENADE KILLS 41 POLISH SOLDIERS

Suspected That Old War Relic Detonated Old Mine Under Men's Feet.

Kowel, Volhynia, Poland, June 30 (By A. P.).—Two officers and 39 soldiers were killed today when a wartime grenade found in a field exploded. About 30 others were injured, some severely.

A company of the Thirty-fifth regiment of infantry was returning to Kowel from maneuvers. While crossing a field the soldiers came upon a dud hand grenade. One man picked it up and the whole company gathered round. The soldier accidentally dropped the grenade. It hit his hobnailed shoes and exploded.

An investigation was instituted and some of the investigators report that the company was marching over a concealed wartime mine. It has not been determined if the suspected mine was detonated by the grenade.

26 Pickets in Canton Killed by British Fire

London, June 30 (By A. P.).—Twenty-six pickets are reported to have been killed by machine gun fire from British armed motorboats, says a dispatch to the Daily Express from Hongkong.

Two British motorboats, armed with machine guns, were escorting sampans carrying supplies to a British steamer lying off Shameen. Canton government picket boats attempted to interfere and the British are said to have opened fire.

CAILLAUX DEMANDS U.S. GIVE UP POWER TO MOBILIZE DEBT

Mellon's Promise Not to Force Bond Issue Is Held Insufficient

NO RATIFICATION IF CLAUSE 7 REMAINS

Pledging of Gold Attacked; $300,000,000 Loan Not Able to Save Franc.

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

Paris, June 30.—Joseph Caillaux this evening received a cable from Washington giving unofficial assurance that the United States will not apply Article 7 of the Berenger accord, which provides for the mobilization of the debt and issuance of bonds for public sale whenever America might demand.

The cablegram was signed by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon. It promised M. Caillaux that America would never envisage such procedure and that the article was merely included as a convention and matter of form.

Mr. Caillaux replied to the Treasury Department at Washington that this assurance is insufficient and that Article 7 must be eliminated from the agreement which the Senate ratifies. The finance minister pointed out that he realizes there is a friendly and sympathetic attitude in the present feeling at Washington, but since the funding runs sixty-two years, France must protect herself against the future. M. Caillaux is also demanding the inclusion of a safeguard clause in the convention, warning Secretary Mellon by cable that it will be practically impossible to secure ratification by the French parliament unless some such concession is offered by America.

New Formula Sought.

Attempts to find some formula permitting the salvation of the franc before next Tuesday, when the government is pledged to outline its policy before parliament, is being sought by Caillaux, who today ordered the new governor of the Bank of France, M. Moreau, to summon Benjamin Strong, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, and Montague Norman, governor of the Bank of England, to Paris from the Riviera, where they are sojourning since the pourparlers with M. Robineau were broken off last week.

The experts' committee, named by Raoul Peret last month, completed its report, which recommends stabilizing the franc at between 175 to 200 to the pound sterling and 35 to 40 to the dollar. This admits the impossibility of further strengthening the franc through artificial means, which was considered the sole means of obtaining ratification through government intervention, with American and English aid bolstering up the franc a few points during the debate.

The dissolution of parliament is now considered the sole solution, as only two alternatives are available—a capital levy or sale of government monopolies. The left house, with an eye to the 100,000 votes employed on the government rail-

5 OR 10 CENTS' JUMP IN TAX RATE LIKELY

District Auditor Will Lay His Recommendation Before Commissioners Today.

The District tax rate for 1927 will be $1.75 per $100 of real or tangible personal property, with a possibility that it may be as high as 1.80. The 1926 rate was $1.70.

This was the impression current in the District building last night, following conferences between Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor, and his aides. Maj. Donovan will recommend to the commissioners today a rate he deems sufficient to meet the appropriations for the new fiscal year. He would not reveal his recommendation in advance.

The total budget for 1926-1927 exceeds $36,000,000. That part of it to be raised by taxation amounts to approximately $34,500,000, the remainder of the revenue consisting mainly of water rents and gasoline tax.

DRY REFERENDUMS IN 6 STATES SOUGHT BY WET ASSOCIATION

Stayton Says Receipts Have Grown to Nearly $500,000 a Year.

WHEELER ON FRONT BENCH AT HEARING

Body's Characterization of Pennsylvania Candidates Brings Laughter.

(By the Associated Press.)

Turning its spotlight on the political activities of the association against the prohibition amendment, the Senate campaign funds committee learned yesterday that it is paying the way for referendums on the wet and dry issue in six States besides New York and Wisconsin, where elections have been ordered.

Capt. William H. Stayton, of Smyrna, Md., founder of the association, said these states are Illinois, Missouri, Colorado, California, Montana and Nevada, each of which has an initiative and referendum clause in its constitution. Petitions are now being circulated, he added, with a view to forcing the issue at the polls.

Appearing in response to a subpoena, Stayton occupied the stand during two sessions and under questioning by Senator King (Democrat), Utah, told of the political activities of his organization and disclosed that it is a growing concern with 760,000 members and that its receipts now are close to half a million dollars a year, or about on a par with those of the Antislavery league.

Reed Yields as Questioner.

Senator Reed (Democrat), Missouri, chairman of the committee, who has conducted the bulk of the examination since the inquiry began three weeks ago, stated that he had been "slandered" called a wet and so would turn over the questioning of Stayton to some dry member, so that there could be no charge of an effort to cover anything up.

Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Antislavery league, who already has submitted to two days of questioning by Reed and whose examination will be resumed this week, was an interested spectator on the front row while Stayton was telling of the inner workings of the major organization enemy of the Antislavery league.

While the committee was inquiring for the first time into the operations of wet organizations, the Senate voted it an additional $40,000 so that it can carry its investigation into Illinois and a number of other States where charges of slush funds have been or may be made as the senatorial campaigns progress.

Chicago Hearings Planned.

The investigators hope to conclude the present phase of their inquiry, dealing primarily with the Pennsylvania primary, by the end of this week and begin hearings in Chicago late in July on the Illinois senatorial primary in which it has been charged $3,000,000 was spent on behalf of Senator William B. McKinley, Republican, and Frank L. Smith, his successful opponent.

Stayton was on the stand less than two hours and will be recalled later after the books of his organization have been audited by representatives of the committee. He appeared entirely at ease and sat well back in the big witness chair with his hands clasped under his chin most of the time.

To Senator King's rapid-fire questions he gave such a fast volley of answers that even the official stenographers had difficulty in keeping up and finally the Utah senator had to request that he speak more slowly.

Stayton said his organization was nonpartisan, supporting Republicans and Democrats alike in either the primaries or general elections—the requirement being that the candidate be favorable to repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act. Committees of the association cooperate with committees for the candidates, he explained, and the association sends out literature and arranges mass meetings.

This was done in Pennsylvania, he said, testifying that $3,500 was sent to Charles S. Wood, Pennsylvania representative of the association, to arrange for mass meetings and that letters were sent to the

SOUTH ROUTE FOR LEE BOULEVARD SELECTED

Thoroughfare Will Wind 7 Miles Through Arlington Cemetery.

OPPOSED BY TWO GROUPS

Selection of the so-called southerly route for the Lee boulevard through Arlington county, Va., was announced last night by Dr. S. M. Johnson, director of the Lee Highway association.

From the Virginia end of the Arlington Memorial bridge to Falls Church, Va., the route selected by the association winds for seven miles through the county and does not touch several of the towns in the county which have asserted their claims to recognition, demanding a straight air-line route from the bridge to Falls Church.

The Lee boulevard is to be 200 feet in width and run for 110 miles into Virginia from Washington, connecting the National Capital from the end of Arlington Memorial bridge with the Shenandoah National park, if plans of the Lee Highway association are carried to fruition.

Three routes were under consideration—the southerly route, the "pallisades" route, which would skirt the Potomac pallisades, and the "straight-to-the-bridge" route, which would run on a direct line from the Arlington bridge to Falls Church.

The route chosen by the association was announced by Dr. Johnson at a meeting last night in the Washington auditorium, which was presided over by Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover. Cheers greeted the announcement. The route is as follows:

From Virginia terminus of Arlington bridge, along Columbia Island to a point of intersection with the main axis of the Mall; thence along that axis to Radner Heights, the north side of the boulevard being the north curb of Whipple street; thence through Fort Meyer Heights along Potomac street; thence through the Porter Woods by a southerly direction toward the wireless towers; thence through Pénrose, skirting the cemetery and passing through the Henderson, Garrison and Adams tracts, crossing the Wilson boulevard just west of Garrison, crossing Four Mile creek at a point near Terreson and skirting the Lothrop tract; extending to Fort Buffalo at the intersection of the Wilson boulevard with the Leesburg-Alexandria pike.

Whether the boulevard will connect with the main axis of the Mall is a question.

PROFESSOR CHOSEN AVIATION SECRETARY

President Names E. P. Warner to New Post in Navy Department.

(By Associated Press.) Edward P. Warner, professor of aeronautics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was nominated by President Coolidge yesterday to be Assistant Secretary of the Navy in charge of aviation.

Mr. Warner is an authority on aerodynamics and aeronautical engineering, having been a specialist in this field for 10 years, during which time he has studied aviation in the United States and abroad.

During the investigation by the President's air board last winter he testified as an expert and has appeared many times before the general board of the navy. Prof. Warner's course at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology is part of the post-graduate training of naval officers specializing in aviation. His studies have also had to do with commercial aviation.

HOUSE BODY ORDERS FULL INVESTIGATION OF DISTRICT AFFAIRS

Bill Curbing Guardians' Practices Forwarded to President.

GIBSON ADVOCATES FENNING'S REMOVAL

Judiciary Body Will Meet Today for Action Upon Blanton's Charges.

Passage of the general war veterans' bill, carrying a provision ending Commissioner Fenning's wholesale guardianship practice and a demand for his removal by the President, marked the eve of the meeting of the House judiciary committee to determine the impeachment charges against him.

Demand for removal of Mr. Fenning, voiced by Representative Gilbert, of Kentucky, was coupled with a similar demand regarding Dr. W. A. White, superintendent of St. Elizabeths hospital. Mr. Gilbert's attack also covered what he described as the "system" which governs Washington.

The House District committee, at the instance of Representative Gibson, of Vermont, provided for a thorough investigation of local affairs during the summer by a subcommittee of seven.

Mr. Gilbert declared there should be no quibbling over the question of whether Mr. Fenning is impeachable. The "responsibility should be accepted gladly by the one who appointed him," he declared.

Representative Graham, chairman of the judiciary committee, took Mr. Gilbert's remarks as "derogatory" to his committee, and made an impassioned defense of it.

Graham Defends Course. He was greeted with laughter from a group of Democrats who declared the committee had sued the commissioner's course as a spirit of candor and truth.

He shouted in reply: "I stand by that statement in spite of your jeering laughs. No amount of diatribes or inconsiderate remarks can crush the truth."

The judiciary subcommittee discussed the case for more than three hours and is to make its report today. No announcement as to the subcommittee's decision was made, except that one by Representative Dyer, chairman, that its conclusions were unanimous. Whether this unanimity turned on the digest of the evidence and law coupled with the declaration at the outset that Mr. Fenning is not impeachable as prepared by Mr. Dyer, or on a suggestion as to the form of a report the full committee shall make to the House could not be ascertained.

The likelihood is that it turned on Mr. Dyer's report, which was merely a digest without any conclusions. If the "unanimity" of action turned on a conclusion, the subcommittee's report is unfavorable to Mr. Fenning.

Amendments Accepted.

Final passage of the general war veterans' bill was effected when the House concurred in Senate amendments. In so doing the House accepted the Senate amendment to its local provision that insofar as the District is concerned, the veterans' bureau director may limit the number of wards any one guardian may have. This limits Mr. Fenning's world war veterans to five instead of the 75 he now has, as Director Hines has said he would apply that limit. The bill now goes to the President.

The District committee's action for a subcommittee investigation of District affairs this summer was taken in view of the probability that resolutions pending in the Senate and House for a joint committee investigation may be lost in the last-minute shuffle. Adoption of a resolution providing for the subcommittee was attended by attack on Mr. Fenning by Representative Hammer, of North Carolina, who also assailed Frank J. Hogan, Mr. Fenning's attorney.

Mr. Hammer said he did not condone the way in which Representative Rankin, of Mississippi, and Blanton, of

SECRET SESSIONS OF SCHOOL BOARD ARE TO BE CURBED

Executive Meetings for Other Than Personnel Cases
Will Be Fought.

MEMBERS MAY ACT
AT MEETING TODAY

Rules Amendment to Be Voted On; Graham to Continue as President.

Amendment of the rules governing the procedure of the board of education to provide for a committee of the whole will not be permitted without specific safeguard against utilization of the new committee as a subterfuge to get around the law forbidding executive sessions of the board.

Announcement of the proposal of the rules committee to amend the rule governing committees to provide for a committee of the whole was made at the last meeting of the board by the Rev. F. L. Bennett. The amendment is to be acted on by board members at the first meeting of the new fiscal year in Franklin school this afternoon.

Only for Personnel.
Under the law the board may hold executive meetings only of committees dealing with personnel, and the announcement of the purpose to create a committee of the whole was looked on as a possible step to permit the board to gather in executive session, decide its course and discuss the reasons therefor and simply give formal approval of its decision in open session.

Such a purpose was denied yesterday by one of the prominent members of the board who declared that the proposed amendment would be amended before it was adopted today to limit specifically to personnel matters the questions the new committee may consider in secret session.

Should such a limitation prove objectionable to other members of the board there is likely to be a fight when the question is brought up for consideration today by Dr. Bennett.

Proposer is Confident.

Such a development is not expected by the leader of the fight to amend the proposed amendment to limit the activities of the committee of the whole, who declared that the full board was in accord on the proposal, which was designed simply to provide for consideration of personnel matters by the full membership of the board instead of by a committee of three as at present, it was said.

The board meeting today will see the election of Charles F. C. as a new term, and two new members, Henry Gilligan and Mrs. McNeil. The board is expected to elect E. C. Graham as president and reappoint Dr. Frank W. Ballou as superintendent of schools. Miss Sibyl Baker, president of the High School Teachers' association, will be appointed head of the community center department, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Cecil Norton. Several other administrative and supervisory vacancies are to be filled.

Hospital Patient Gets Writ.

Dr. William A. White, superintendent of St. Elizabeths hospital, was directed yesterday by Justice Hoehling to bring John B. Collins, retired warrant officer of the marine corps, into court on July 14 for a test of the authority to detain him as a patient. A writ of habeas corpus was sued out by Attorney George F. Curtis on behalf of Collins.

MRS. NORTON URGES ANNUITIES OF $1,200

Representative Resents White House Influence on Pay Legislation.

Resenting what she described as an effort of the President to dictate to Congress what it shall do, Representative Mary T. Norton, of New Jersey, yesterday pleaded for enactment of a civil service retirement law with a maximum annuity of $1,200.

"Government employees are poorly paid, as it is," Representative Norton told the House. Congress, she declared, should pass a liberal measure and put the onus of vetoing it on the President and then pass the measure over the presidential veto.

The present retirement pay, Mrs. Norton declared, "is poor recompense and rank injustice on the part of the richest nation in the world." She challenged the propriety of the pressure brought to bear on Congress by the executive branch to prevent enactment of a new pension law which would raise the maximum retirement pay above $1,000.

CITIZENS POSTPONE SCHOOL-HOUR VOTE

Questionnaire Is Explained to Rhode Island Avenue Body
by Miss Hardy.

Vote on the school board questionnaire relative to the lengthening of school hours was deferred until the next meeting of the Rhode Island Avenue Citizens association at the monthly meeting held last night in the Sherwood Presbyterian church.

The questionnaire was outlined by Miss Rose Hardy, director of primary education in the District schools. While expressing opposition to the proposal, Miss Hardy stated both sides of the question.

A committee was appointed to select a site for a branch library in the community, and to go before Congress next session to urge authorization of a temporary library while the new one is being built. A resolution was adopted urging that the Woodridge school and the eight-room addition to the John Burroughs school be completed as quickly as possible. Another resolution urged that the Langdon park site be included in the public park system.

DR. JOHNSON IS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF HOWARD U.

Charleston, W. Va., Clergyman, Now in Paris, Will Accept Post, It Is Said.

INDORSED BY FINANCIERS

At a special meeting of the board of trustees of Howard university yesterday in the board room of the college library to consider the situation created by the declination of Bishop John A. Gregg to serve as president, Dr. Mordcaai W. Johnson, of Charleston, W. Va., was elected to the office. He is now in Paris, France, traveling with the Sherwood Eddy seminar, and has already indicated his intention to accept.

The election was made by the full trustee board with the exception of Dr. Charles R. Brown, of Yale university, and Dr. J. Stanley Durkee, former president, who took charge of the Plymouth Congregational church, Brooklyn, N. Y., last week, succeeding Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis. Judge Stanton J. Peelle presided in Dr. Brown's absence.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt, of New York, informed the board of Bishop Gregg's declination. A session of several hours followed, devoted entirely to consideration of qualifications of various candidates. Great weight was said to be given strong endorsement of Dr. Johnson by Judge Julian W. Mack, Julius Rosenwald and other public philanthropists. Dr. Johnson will be the first colored American to serve as president of Howard university.

Distinction of being the youngest to serve will also be his, as he is now 36. He graduated from Morehouse college, Atlanta, in 1911, where he was retained for two years as professor of economics and history. Two years later he was awarded the degree of bachelor of arts from Chicago university. He graduated from Rochester theological seminary in 1916, and became student secretary of the international committee of Young Men's Christian associations.

He became pastor of the First Baptist church of Charleston, in 1917, where he continues to serve. He was awarded the degree of doctor of divinity from Howard university in 1923, after attending the Rochester seminary as a graduate scholar for a year, and after having graduated from Harvard university in 1922 with the degree of master of science of theology. He is married and has three children.

In an address at Atlanta several years ago on the subject of race relations he attracted the attention of Sherwood Eddy, philanthropist interested in this movement, and was related by him to Judge Mack and Mr. Rosenwald, with whom he has had intimate contact since. The trustee board of the university announced its confident hope that the election of Dr. Johnson will bring the university strong financial support.

2 Marriage Licenses Obtained by Couple

Doubly legal was the marriage of Craig Starbuck Adkins, of Baltimore, and Miss Peggy Benty, of Chevy Chase, Md., yesterday. When the wedding party arrived at All Saints' Episcopal church in Chevy Chase with a District marriage license they found that the church is situated on the boundary line between Maryland and the District and that their license was valid only on the front steps of the church, which are in the District.

The pastor, the Rev. H. T. Cocke, offered to break a precedent and marry the couple on the front steps, but the bride-to-be wanted to be married in the church. Robert Daly, of Washington, then volunteered to go to Rockville and procure a Maryland license for the couple. The bride party waited at the church until he returned and the ceremony was performed at 5 o'clock last evening.

CAPITOL PLAZA DEAL SIGNED BY OFFICIALS

$41,503 Saved by Government in Purchase From B.
& O. Railroad.

An agreement under which the government will acquire that part of the Union Station plaza which it does not own already was signed yesterday by officials of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and by Vice President Dawes and Architect of the Capitol David Lynn. The government agreed to pay $3,129,597.24 for the seven squares involved.

For fourteen years, the government has been negotiating for this property so that the gateway to the city might be beautified. Under the agreement, the government saves $41,503.02. This saving was due to the willingness of the railroad to close the transaction as of date of April 2, 1926, when the negotiations began. Thus, the government was relieved of paying interest that would have accrued in that period.

The land will be paid for with funds already in the Treasury and money about to be appropriated in the deficiency bill. In the Treasury, there is an unexpended balance of $1,798,139.27 of the original appropriation for the purchase of the land. The deficiency bill, which has passed the House and is about to be called up in the Senate, carries an appropriation for the remainder, $1,331,458.37.

POLICEMEN CLEARED OF BRUTALITY CHARGE

G. W. Cook and Thomas Kerr
Held Not Guilty of Attack on A. B. Atkins.

Charges of brutal treatment by two policemen preferred by Archer B. Atkins, a commission merchant, were not sustained by the testimony of the witnesses, Judge Isaac R. Hitt ruled in police court yesterday.

Atkins said Policemen G. W. Cook and Thomas Kerr, of the Second precinct, made an "unwarranted and brutal attack" upon him when they arrested him Tuesday. Atkins was asleep in a wagon at Seventh and O streets northwest when his wife went into his pocket for change. The policemen saw her reach into his pocket and started an investigation. The husband awoke from his sleep and he and the wife were asked to go to the Second precinct police station for identification.

On the way to the station Atkins, according to his testimony, broke from the police. He was struck by one of the policemen and fell to the ground, bruising his face. The arrest was dismissed by Judge Hitt, who held that the officers were within their rights in taking the prisoners to the station. Atkins was fined $15 for disorderly conduct.

WORLD BODY IS PLANNED FOR MILITANT FEMINISTS

Failure to Gain Admission to Paris Session Prompts
Woman's Party Move.

DELEGATES ARE HONORED

Organization of an international federation of militant feminists, to carry to other continents the tactics originated here by the National Woman's Party in a world-wide effort for complete equality of women with men, was announced as soon as the delegates to the Paris session of the International Woman Suffrage alliance.

Miss Michel Vernon, who was spokesman in Paris for the woman's party, made the announcement. In the principal address of the evening she described the manner in which the party had been denied affiliation with the alliance, due to the opposition of the League of Women Voters.

"After we had been refused membership," she said, "our delegation gave a luncheon in Paris, attended by women from many countries who dissented from the decision of the alliance. We there decided that a new international movement was needed at once, but that it must be a movement for action and not merely for talk."

"We were fortunate to have been denied admission to the alliance, for it meets only once in three years and then to do nothing but talk. That would never do for us. We are feminists. They are merely reformers. The representative of the League of Women Voters said that they believe in moving slowly and cautiously. We believe in going as fast as we can."

Other speakers included Miss Jessie Dell, United States civil service commissioner; Mrs. Isaac Dixon, of Baltimore; Mrs. Florence Bayard Hilles, of Wilmington, Del., and Miss Margaret Hallett, daughter of President Hallett, of the University of Pennsylvania, all of whom were members of the Paris delegation. Mrs. Donald R. Hooker, of Baltimore, presided.

Attacks on Fenning Halt Traffic Bill

Adoption of the conference report on the traffic bill was blocked in the Senate yesterday by attacks on Director Eldridge, by a group of senators.

Senator Reed, of Missouri, said Mr. Eldridge should go to some of the small towns and see how to run traffic. Senators Walsh, Montana; Bleas, South Carolina, and Dill, of Washington, objected to the measure, chiefly on the grounds that it gave the director too much power. "The House can not act on the report until the Senate has adopted it."

BRITISH MINE BILL PASSES ITS SECOND STEP IN COMMONS

Third Reading of 8-Hour Law
Is Fixed for Today
by Leaders.

CLASHES OVER APPEAL FOR AMERICAN HELP

Women's Committee and City
Temple Head Say Want
Is Still Terrible.

London, June 30 (By A. P.).—The government's coal mines bill, which provides for an eight-hour day for miners, passed the second stage of the house of commons tonight. The third reading of the bill is fixed for tomorrow.

Criticism of a recent appeal made in the United States asking assistance for the women and children in the British coal mining district, has stirred national interest regarding conditions in the strike-ridden areas.

The report of the national society for the prevention of cruelty to children stating that want and deprivation are not prevalent in the mining areas and that there is no reason for asking American assistance, has stirred protests from the women's committee for the relief of miners' families.

Denies Appeal Error.

A statement issued by the women's committee, of which Ellen Wilkinson is chairman, says that the national society's report is erroneous. "The attack in certain Tory papers upon an appeal issued in America and endorsed by British churches has now been supported by a misleading series of reports from the inspectors of the national society."

Lion Traps and Rouge Figure in Reparations

Berlin, June 30 (By A. P.).—Products as far apart as lion traps and rouge grinding machines are among the commodities requisitioned on Germany by the allied governments in payment of reparations under the Dawes plan.

Belgium has ordered 30 lion traps for use in the Belgian Congo. The contraptions were invented by a trap maker in Hainaut, Belgium, and consist of steel contraptions to which are attached chains and claw-like hooks operated by a powerful steel spring.

A recent order from France was for cosmetic manufacturing machine, which grinds rouge into powder for use in the molding of lipstick.

society for the prevention of cruelty to children," the statement says. The Wilkinson committee declares that it is not true that great relief work is being carried on. It has proposed to the London Times that representatives of that newspaper and agents of the national society visit any coal mining district in the country in order to obtain accurate reports of existing conditions.

Dr. F. V. Norwood, pastor of the City temple, one of the endorsers of the appeal made in the United States, gave the following statement on the affair to the Associated Press:

May Suffer Terribly.

"I am not immediately responsible for very phrase in the appeal sent to America. Several of them I would have modified had opportunity been given me. I have had the clearest evidence that great numbers of women and children are suffering terribly. I regard them as essentially innocent."

"Whatever the rights and wrongs of the question, they ought to be protected. The fact is that strikes vary. There is a more charitable attitude in some than in others. It is a perversion of patriotism to resent help by a prosperous, neighboring and friendly country."

There are some who want this dispute ended by the distress of women and children. I want something better than that and therefore I support the appeal for American help."

Philadelphia, June 30 (By A. P.).—One thousand school teachers today voted unanimously to support the Curtis-Reed bill providing for the creation of a department of education and the seating of educators' representative in the President's Cabinet. The teachers formed representative assembly of the National Education association, convention here, with 72,000 educators in attendance.

There was one objector to the bill, George Hamaker, of South Carolina, who said he considered the measure unwarranted and unnecessary surrender of State rights. Dr. South Carolina delegates favored the bill, and Hamaker later withdrew with them.

Stra Defends Bill.

In explaining the bill, Prof. George D. Kyer, of Teachers college, Columbia university, said the government already was engaged in many cities intended to improve and develop the American system of public schools. He urged condonation of these activities in single department under the leadership of one who would sit at the cabinet table.

Among other features in many papers read at various departmental meetings today were the following:

Condonation of competition as a force drive pupils to study.

Appeal for Peace.

An appeal for the building of world peace through the new generation in the schools.

Criticism of educators who advocate repeal of the prohibition amendment.

Object to compulsory military training in high schools. Citizens' military training camps, which are voluntary, were held to be not objectionable.

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

The Hague, June 30.—Latest reports from Sumatra concern a new earthquake in Padang and environs. In Padang and Panjang more than a hundred persons have been killed, including Europeans, and hundreds have been injured. The Fort Capece prison was destroyed, a number being killed. The volcanoes Merapi and Talang show signs of activity.

Bakersfield, Calif., June 30 (By A. P.).—Two light earthquakes jarred the lower San Joaquin valley of California today, the first in the early morning hours, arousing a number of sleepers of the University of California.

The second, centered in the Kern river canyon, was heavier. Neither, however, did any damage, as far as is known.

There is a distinct and somewhat active earthquake fault in the Kern river canyon, geologists of the University of California say, but earthquakes on the east side of the San Joaquin valley, where the first disturbance was felt, are considered so rare as to attract special notice.

The towns of Porterville, Visalia and Tulare reported having felt the first shake, which lasted about 30 seconds.

Rome, June 30 (By A. P.).—Several strong earthquake shocks, varying in distance from several hundred to ten thousand kilometers, were registered today at the observatories in Padua, Faenza and Benevento. There are no reports of damage in Italy.

Athens, Greece, June 30 (By A. P.).—The damage caused to the museum at Candia, Crete, by Saturday's earthquake is considerable but not irreparable, says a message from the director of Cretan antiquities.

Several mural paintings, including that of a Minoan lady, twelve showcases, two porcelain figures of a snake goddess and a series of jars from Chios, the ancient capital of Crete, were broken. Many of the fragments have already been collected and experts will attempt to piece them together.

NONCONFIDENCE BEATEN BY OTTAWA GOVERNMENT

Meighen Wins by 7 Votes;
Royal Mounted to End
Border Smuggling.

CLOSER PATROL ORDERED

Ottawa, Ont., June 30 (By A. P.).—On a government majority of seven the house of commons tonight defeated a liberal nonconfidence amendment moved by W. L. Mackenzie King, opposition leader and late premier. Mr. King's amendment was on a motion for consideration of the government appropriations bill, and declared:

"That the fiscal policy of this government as enunciated by the present prime minister, Mr. Meighen, when leader of his majesty's opposition would prove detrimental to the country's continued prosperity and prejudicial to national unity."

The amendment was defeated 108 to 101.

As in previous divisions, the progressives split, eleven voting with the liberals and nine with the conservatives.

Royal Canadian mounted police are being stationed at all vulnerable points on the Canadian border from the Atlantic to the Pacific to aid in the prevention of smuggling. Announcement of this effect was made today by the acting minister of customs, H. H. Stevens.

The action comes as an immediate sequel to the adoption by the house of commons this morning of the report of the parliamentary investigation into customs frauds.

The mounted police are definitely instructed to cooperate with all customs and preventive officers.

Mr. Stevens declared that there will be a complete reorganization and strengthening of the preventive service, in accordance with the suggestions in the report of the customs investigation committee.

ROYALTY IS ASSAILED
IN BRITISH COMMONS

Laborite Who "Has Nothing but Contempt" Told Not to Mention King.

London, June 30 (By A. P.).—A sensation was caused in the house of commons this afternoon when George Buchanan, laborite, who professes republicanism, declared he had "no respect and nothing but contempt for royalty."

It was a tense moment, and there were loud protests from the conservatives, but the thrust at the king was quickly passed over, partly because there are probably few in the commons who care to have such a subject discussed and partly because under the house rules the king's name must not be brought into debate.

Buchanan's outburst followed the reading by the speaker of a message from the king continuing the state of emergency owing to the coal strike. Buchanan claimed the right to challenge whether the king should send such a message.

The speaker reminded the laborite member that the king's name could not be used in debate. Mr. Buchanan accepted the speaker's ruling.

FARM BILL BEFORE PRESIDENT; HOUSE APPROVES CHANGE

Senate Amendments Adopted to Cooperative Marketing
Measure.FIGHT LOST TO SEND
IT INTO CONFERENCEMcDuffie Opposes the Elimination of Naval Stores
From Its Benefits.

(By the Associated Press.)

Final action was taken yesterday by Congress on the administration cooperative marketing bill, the only farm relief measure to run the House and Senate gauntlet at this session.

After rejecting, 156 to 67, a motion to send the measure to conference, the House, without a record vote, approved two Senate amendments, and the bill now goes to the President for his approval.

Sponsored by Secretary Jardine, it would create a division in the Agriculture Department to foster development and work of farmers' cooperatives. An appropriation of $225,000 is authorized.

Formerly Approved by Senate.

The bill was approved Tuesday night by the Senate after it had rejected the Fess farm credits bill, endorsed by President Coolidge, to which it had been proposed as a rider.

When it came back to the House yesterday, Representative McDuffie (Democrat), Alabama, moved to send it to conference. He was supported by a group of Democrats and a few Republicans who opposed a Senate amendment to eliminate naval stores from the commodities to be classified under the bill as "agricultural products."

The other Senate amendment, designed to broaden the scope of the proposed cooperative division, was accepted without debate.

Mr. McDuffie contended the House had inserted naval stores in the bill after extended debate and that it had been eliminated in the Senate at the insistence of manufacturing interests. He held the House should send the bill to conference and fight for the amendment.

He was supported in his position by Representative Garrett, of Tennessee, the Democratic leader, and Representatives Green and Sears, of Florida (Democrats), and Schafer (Republican), Wisconsin.

Representative Beggs (Republican), Ohio, sponsored the move to concur in the Senate amendments. He said this would be necessary if the bill were to pass before the close of the session.

"In making this move I am not opposing the naval stores proposal," Beggs said. "If next session it is necessary to extend the benefits of the bill to this product, I shall assist in doing so."

EDWARDS PROPOSES WET AMENDMENT

Suggests Repeal of Dry
Clause by Conventions of States.

(By the Associated Press.)

Another resolution seeking to repeal the eighteenth amendment was drawn up yesterday by Senator Edwards (Democrat), New Jersey.

The resolution in the form of a constitutional amendment, if adopted by two-thirds of each house, would become effective if ratified by "conventions" in three-fourths of the States, in accordance with article 5 of the Constitution. These State conventions would be composed of delegates elected by the voters in each State. The number of delegates and the time and place of the convention would be determined by the legislature of each State.

In explaining his proposal, Senator Edwards said it was an answer to Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, and Walsh (Democrat), Montana, "who contend that the Constitution does not sanction a popular referendum on the repeal of the eighteenth amendment." "The fifth article of the Constitution provides that amendments may be ratified by 'conventions in three-fourths of the States,' as well as by the legislatures of three-fourths of the States," he said.

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon, June 30, and adjourned at 6:05 p. m. until today at 12 o'clock.

Reached unanimous consent agreement to make rivers and harbors bill a special order for December 14 at 2 o'clock, debate to be limited beginning December 20 and measure not to be laid aside except by unanimous consent. Leaders of both parties declared this agreement assured final adjournment of this session by Saturday.

William S. Handy, of Dover, was nominated to be collector of internal revenue for the district of Delaware. Edward P. Warner, of Massachusetts, was nominated to be Assistant Secretary of Navy in charge of aviation.

Addressing the Senate in favor of his radio regulation measure, Senator Dill (Democrat), of Washington, said that unless legislation was enacted this session to keep wave lengths intact from "pirates" the government will lose almost entire control of broadcasting.

Senator Wheeler (Democrat), of Montana, introduced resolution calling for an investigation of alleged relations of Secretaries Hoover and Jardine with wheat exporters.

Under terms of a resolution by Senator Norbeck (Republican), of South Dakota, the Secretary of Agriculture would be authorized to acquire a herd of musk oxen for introduction in Alaska, with a view to their domestication.

President transmitted a supplemental estimate of $41,503 for payment of taxes and interest on property authorized to be acquired for enlargement of Capitol grounds.

A constitutional amendment for repeal of eighteenth amendment was introduced by Senator Edwards (Democrat), of New Jersey.

Passed resolution increasing allowance of senatorial primary "slush" fund investigating committee to $500,000.

From foreign relations committee Chairman Borah favorably reported resolution providing for expenses of the delegation of the United States to international sanitary conference.

Resolution favorably reported allowing Senator Schall (Republican), of Minnesota, $15,000 to reimburse him for expenses incurred in defending his right to his seat.

Reached unanimous consent agreement for session tonight for consideration of unobjectionable bills, and tomorrow night for bills under rule 8.

Chairman Warren, of appropriations committee, reported deficiency appropriation bill and gave notice he would call it up today.

Senator Norbeck reported an omnibus pension bill.

Tariff Commissioner Brossard told investigating committee the commission at present time is in strongest position in its history and on way to being completely effective.

"Slush" fund investigating committee turned from Antislavery league to association against the prohibition amendment and heard Capt. William H. Stayton, of Maryland, its founder, and others. Testimony showed its receipts now are close to $500,000 a year.

HOUSE.

Met at 11 o'clock a. m., June 30, and adjourned at 6 o'clock p. m. until 11 o'clock this morning.

After all-day debate, finally passed bill requiring imported milk to conform to domestic conditions and requirements.

Mrs. Mary T. Norton, of New Jersey (Democrat), charged President Coolidge with exercising undue influence on legislation and urged Congress to "defy the White House" and pass the retirement bill for Federal employees.

Adopted Senate amendments to veterans rehabilitation and training bill and it now goes to President.

Ways and means committee directed Chairman Green to report resolution for adjournment of session at 3 o'clock Saturday, Mr. Green announcing he would call it up after action by the Senate on deficiency bill.

Quiz Asked for Cabinet Men.

(By the Associated Press.)

A special Senate committee would be appointed to investigate charges of secret relations between the Secretaries of Commerce and Agriculture and grain and exporting and speculative interests under a resolution introduced yesterday by Senator Wheeler (Democrat), Montana.

SURPLUS FALLS SHORT OF $380,000,000 FIGURE

Balance Goes to Debt, Making
Year's Reduction of $850,000,000.

POSTAL DEFICIT IS MET

(By the Associated Press.)

The fiscal year ended last night with Treasury books showing a surplus slightly less than the $380,000,000 margin recently estimated by President Coolidge.

The surplus, larger than that of a year ago but smaller than two years ago, when the fiscal year was rounded out with $505,000,000 balance, was piled up despite the reduction in taxes which applied on the last two quarterly tax payments. The balance will be applied on America's war debt, cutting it down to about $19,885,000,000, and making a total slash in this debt for the year of $850,000,000.

Despite the reduced rates in the new revenue law, income taxes collected in the first two quarters of its operation have surprised officials by totaling much over those taken in a year ago, when higher rates prevailed. Customs receipts also showed a considerable increase, with indications that the total would reach $550,000,000 for the year, or a gain of almost $40,000,000 over last year.

While there was every indication that the income tax returns for June would total $440,000,000, as estimated by the Treasury, an $11,000,000 deficiency in the Post-office Department had to be met yesterday, thereby cutting the estimated surplus of $380,000,000 down to about $369,000,000. It will be several days before the Treasury has received final reports on its income and expenditures for the last two days of the fiscal year.

Free State's Troops Will Collect Taxes

Dublin, June 30 (By A. P.).

Soldiers are to help local authorities collect taxes in certain Irish districts. Decision to this effect has been brought about by the situation in lands off the Irish west coast, where residents have not paid taxes for years.

The ministry of justice has also consented to provide a boat to be used for taking away livestock seized for taxes on the island of Eddy, Galway bay.

President Judge revealed his "humane" yesterday, and, in so doing brought joy to the heart of a Tilden King, 18-year-old son of Pierre, S. Dak.

The young man who is one of the winners of the American Youth award of Philadelphia recently lost his medal. When President Coolidge heard yesterday King's loss, he summoned him to the White House and gave him his own medal, a replica of the one which he had presented the day before. Another lad will be struck off for thirteenth.

FRAUD IS CHARGED IN BAKING DECREE

La Follette War Case Reopened and Sent and Lawyers Eain.

(By the Associated Press.)

Charging a "gross fraud" had been perpetrated upon the Federal court at Baltimore in Continental Baking Corporation case, Senator La Follette (Republican), Wisconsin, yesterday called upon Federal Judge Soper to let its reopening and to insist that the Attorney General of the United States and the Bread Trust lawyers explain their actions.

The senator referred the entry of a consent decree in the suit against the corporation asserting a dissenting report Federal Trade Commission sent and Thompson had "revealed" for the first time the extraordinary conditions under which the eye of the "consent decree" was purged.

The case was purged on the court, he said, by providing that the charges against Continental Baking Corporation were dismissed on the ground that similar charges were pending before the trade commission. As matter of fact, he asserted, "the Federal Trade Commission's complaint had actually been dismissed" previous day and the Attorney General had been informed at this action had taken place.

He added that the dismissal was arranged at a "secret" conference April 1 at the Department of Justice in which the Attorney General and the chief counsel for the trade commission met without authority with the "lawyers for the Bread Trust."

ITALIAN PRESS TO DROP PRACTICALLY ALL NEWS

No Foreign Reports, and No Crimes, Sports or Art Items Can Be Used.

ALL WEEKLIES DOOMED

Rome, Italy, June 30 (By A. P.).—Revolutionary transformation of all Italian newspapers, whereby nothing but the bare facts of domestic happenings and virtually no foreign news, may be printed, is the goal of the new fascist economy plan, of which the cabinet's order reducing all newspapers to not more than six pages is the first step.

This intention is announced almost unanimously by the fascist newspapers in approving comments on the proposed changes. In addition to the elimination of detailed foreign correspondence, sports, art and literary news, and accounts of court cases, particularly crimes, will gradually be dropped, the semi-official Tribuna declares.

"We will have dry newspapers, restricted to the most essential comments," says Il Tevere, extreme fascist organ, adding ironically: "Alas, we won't know whether the new sect of worshippers of tape worms started on the banks of the Potomac; we would not be able to read the prose of the special correspondents in Pernambuco."

The Impero sees the cut in the size of newspapers as the work of a genius, declaring that daily journalism has become a scandalous waste of paper.

The Tribuna says that fascism desires faithfulness to fundamental central ideas and brief, succinct basic considerations.

Discussing the newspapers outside the large cities, Signor Turati, secretary-general of the fascist party, said:

"Each province cannot have more than one newspaper, in which will be published the party's orders and the political acts of fascism will be briefly illustrated. All the rest of the space will be devoted to things which are being constructed and work which is being carried out."

Personal journalism, Turati declared, is doomed, and he asserted that fascism is determined to bring out the educational and moral aspect of the press.

"I am also determined," he continued, "to destroy the innumerable weeklies, which, although dealing in national problems and spreading fundamental fascist ideas, represent solely the personal acidity and literary impatience of their editors."

"Some of our comrades have already set a good example by suffocating their own creatures. I will cite in an order of the day those following this example."

The secretary-general concluded by remarking: "We may have surprises to offer in this field."

Dying Man Gets 5 Years And Is Fined $1,000,000

Berlin, June 30 (By A. P.).—A million dollar fine and five years' hard labor in prison were imposed today on Ivan Kutisker, Russian merchant, convicted of swindling the Prussian State Bank.

The judge who sentenced Kutisker described him as such a lying character that he could be compared only with Alessandro Cagliostro, the alchemist, who, it is alleged, victimized the nobility of Europe and others 150 years ago.

Kutisker gained credits at the Prussian State Bank extending into millions of marks. The judge asserted that he apparently exercised such fascination over the bank directors that they blindly believed all that he told them.

The convicted man did not hear the record fine, as he is in the prison hospital where physicians have certified that he is dying.

METHODIST BISHOP TELLS HOW INDIAN MARTYR DIED

White Man Gives Life After Native Had Denounced Foreign Missionaries.

BISHOPS HOLD REVIVAL

Chicago, June 30.—One of the most dramatic scenes ever enacted in a Methodist gathering took place this afternoon at the Chicago temple, in connection with the closing of the meeting of the world service commission—which adjourned at 6 o'clock after a two-day conference considering the world crises in home and foreign missions.

The speaker was Bishop Fred B. Fisher, of Calcutta, India. He made a passionate plea for men and women to be willing to lay down their lives, if need be, for the world's redemption. He described how an Indian Christian "Sadhur" or holy man had declared that could not be found a white man or woman who would willingly lay down his or her life for his brown people and reached the climax when he told how a missionary of Calcutta had to nurse certain Indians stricken with smallpox and had died.

"I was turned into a grave digger," exclaimed Bishop Fisher, "and I helped to bury him with my own hands. I then telegraphed the Sadhu, 'I have found your man, who has died trying to save your brown people.'"

Then Bishop Fisher turned evangelist and invited the more than twenty bishops to gather at the altar rail of the church and rededicate their lives to the salvation of the world. When the long row of bishops had dropped on their knees, all the officials of the world service commission next came forward, followed by all the ministers, until hundreds were on their knees declaring themselves willing to go to offer their money and their lives to carry the Gospel to the ends of the earth and to meet the crises which the various speakers declared confronted the church and the world.

9 Lynched This Year; 2 Whites and Indian

Tuskegee, Ala., June 30 (By A. P.).—Tuskegee Institute announced today that nine persons were lynched during the first six months of 1926, an increase of four over the same period of last year, but a marked decrease compared to the same period during the three previous years.

The statement said that six lynched were negroes, two whites and one Indian, and that three were charged with murder, one with burglary, another with wounding an officer and that the others faced various charges involving insults to women.

The States in which the lynching occurred are Florida, 3; Mississippi, 2, and one each in Arkansas, Kentucky, New Mexico and Texas.

Poles Cut Discount Rate.

Warsaw, June 30 (By A. P.).—M. Klarner, minister of finance, has ordered the discount rate lowered from 24 per cent to 20 per cent beginning July 1. # STUNT FLIER AND BRIDE ACCUSED OF EXTORTION

Wealthy F. R. Hazard Brings Charge Against Chorus Girl, Once Employee.

SHE ACCUSES HUSBAND

New York, June 30 (By A. P.).—Frederick Howland Hazard, wealthy son of a former president of the Solvay Process Co., caused the arrest today of a Hollywood stunt aviator and the actor's chorus girl wife on a charge of attempted extortion.

Ernest and Gertrude Fosnaugh, who were married only four weeks ago, were held in bail of $10,000 each. They were arrested in the Grand Central Terminal, where Hazard, accompanied by detectives, met them in response to a demand for money.

At police headquarters the bride confessed to the extortion attempt and named her husband as instigator of the plot. She said that she was formerly an employee of Hazard, who is a tax accountant, and that while working for him she received gifts aggregating $20,000 from him.

Several letters and telegrams were said to have been dispatched to Hazard by Mrs. Fosnaugh demanding $5,000 on penalty of certain unnamed revelations.

Hazard was one of four heirs among whom was divided the estate, amounting to several million dollars, of the late Frederick Roland Hazard, of Syracuse, former president of the Solvay Process Co. and the Semet Solvay Co., now comprising a unit of the Allied Chemical & Dye Corporation. Members of his family are prominent in society in Syracuse and Rhode Island.

Receiver for Dominion Steel Company Urged

Montreal, Que., June 30 (By A. P.).—Appointment of a receiver for the Dominion Iron & Steel Co. was suggested by Roy M. Wolin, president, in the course of his statement at the annual meeting of the British Empire Steel Corporation shareholders today. The company is a subsidiary of the British Empire Steel Corporation.

He said this step was recommended so as to conserve the working capital of the company, to discontinue bond payments and to protect the interests of all concerned. The company was badly affected by a strike of miners last year and its earnings in that period were reported to have been practically nil.

THE DISTRICT AND CONGRESS.

Congress should pass, before adjournment, the Gibson resolution now pending in the House to provide for a thorough inquiry into the relations between the Federal government and the District of Columbia. The House District committee has recommended the enactment of the resolution. Meantime, the House committee, which has been investigating District affairs, proposes to appoint a subcommittee to continue the work of the Gibson committee, which will automatically expire with the present session.

It would be far better to have an inquiry by a joint committee of Congress. Members of both houses frankly admit that they know comparatively little about the affairs of the District or the desires of its citizens. Every session the District committees are required to ask for information from the heads of the local government and civic associations pertaining to matters that are of vital importance to the National Capital, and every session there is unavoidable delay in enacting legislation.

There should be a permanent policy adopted by the Congress that would settle definitely the relationship between the two governments. The 50-50 arrangement as well as the 60-40 policy pertained only to the fiscal relationship. Many other matters that involve taxation and expenditures are almost constantly before the sessions of Congress, and in many instances the District committees are forced to act without having been fully informed upon the questions at issue. It has been a slipshod, uncertain and unsatisfactory relationship that has always existed, for which there is no excuse. An exhaustive inquiry into District affairs by a joint committee of Congress, with authority to examine witnesses and make an investigation of the financial relationship as well as the needs of the District, would doubtless lead to the establishment of a permanent policy that would not only make it easier for Congress but would be far more satisfactory to the taxpayers and the people of Washington generally. By all means let us have this inquiry.

It is madness to curtail free speech. Almost any mortal can talk his grouch to death.

THE UNION STATION PLAZA.

After fourteen years Congress has provided for the purchase of all the lands embraced in the plan for the beautification of the approach from the Capitol to the Union station, which had not already been acquired. Yesterday the plaza commission and the representatives of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad signed the agreement whereby the railroad company relinquishes its title to the site of its old station and lands adjacent to the plaza.

While no direct provision has been made up to the present time for the removal of the temporary buildings, which have housed government workers since the war, those structures as well as the dilapidated houses between the Capitol and the station will soon disappear, and it is expected that in due time the landscape will be made to enhance the dignity and beauty of the Capitol and the Union station. A broad avenue will extend from the Union station to Pennsylvania avenue at the Peace monument.

Elliott Woods, late architect of the Capitol, who first conceived the plan, for this great improvement, was not permitted to see the consummation of his work, but the people of the District should see to it that the venerable former Speaker, "Uncle Joe" Cannon, shall share in the celebration of the completion of the project which he sponsored.

"I want my boy to have an easier time than I had." And there's one explanation of jalls.

MOTOR CAR LICENSES.

The recommendation is made by Traffic Director Eldridge and Wade H. Coombs, superintendent of automobile licenses, for a change in the system of numbering so as to eliminate more than four figures and provide for series of not more than four digits preceded by a letter. Under the proposed plan there would be no serial number higher than 9999. It is also suggested that vehicles should be divided into groups or classes, delivery truck licenses, for instance, to be designated by the letter B; commercial vehicles by C, and so on, while the letter X would classify machines as non-resident cars. The purpose of the change is to simplify the license numbers in a way that would make them more easily remembered. In several of the States this plan has been adopted, with the result, it is said, that policing of traffic has been facilitated. Undoubtedly a short number is easier to comprehend than one of six figures, and in identifying cars used by criminals the police officers would be materially aided.

Every year there is a rush by the owners of automobiles to secure licenses that bear short numbers. With such a system as that recommended by the traffic director all owners of cars would be sure of getting licenses that would be satisfactory. Moreover, by dividing the city into districts, each district to be designated by a letter of the alphabet, it would be much easier to identify the cars of traffic law violators. The recommendation should be adopted by the District commissioners.

There's no longer exposed brass on a flivver, but there's just as much behind the steering wheel.

THE FISCAL YEAR 1926.

The fiscal year 1926 ended on June 30, and the fiscal year 1927 begins today. The year just past has been the best and most satisfactory since the close of the world war. The public debt during the last twelve months has been reduced from $20,516,000,000 to $19,680,000,000—or about $836,000,000.

Ordinary government expenses have been increased from about $3,780,000,000 last year to about $3,940,000,000 this fiscal year; but this increase is largely accounted for by increases in internal revenue refunds, increase in sinking fund, and increase in adjusted service certificates. General expenses decreased some $22,000,000; and interest on the public debt was reduced some $50,000,000.

Total ordinary receipts for the fiscal year just ended were approximately $3,950,000,000, or more than $200,000,000 in excess of the last fiscal year. Customs receipts were about $575,000,000, and internal revenue income and profits tax receipts were more than $1,975,000,000. Customs receipts exceeded last year by more than $32,000,000, while internal revenue income and profits tax receipts exceeded last year by more than $220,000,000. The approximate surplus on June 30 was $400,000,000.

It is difficult to portray a clearer picture of government success and efficiency. No fiscal year in the history of the government presents a better record. The secret of this remarkable story is sound economic plans and safe execution, all for the welfare of the whole people. The credit of the government, the confidence of the business world and the reliance of all on the men at the helm are reflected in this splendid story of the fiscal year 1926.

Still, many of the world's big jobs are held by men who know very little about bridge.

BRITISH WOMEN MILITANT.

The women of Britain have chosen an appropriate date, July 3, for their new declaration of political independence. The parade which they will stage on that day will be gay and colorful, and full of the enthusiasm which some success already achieved and more anticipated always inspires. In these and other respects, it will be in marked contrast with that first suffrage demonstration of a quarter of a century ago, when the participants wore their oldest and shabbiest gowns and trudged through seas of London mud, hooted and hissed and jeered at by many women as well as by boys and men. The leader on that occasion was Millicent Fawcett, and it surely needed all her well known courage to bear up against the inclemency of the weather and the hostility of the unenlightened mob. She is now, at 79, Dame Millicent Fawcett, president emerita (or, rather, emerita) of the National Union of Suffrage Societies, and one of the most revered and honored women in all England. Loyal to her pristine principles, she will, despite her great age, take her place among the marchers next Saturday.

How the cause of votes for women has progressed during those 25 years! Almost hopeless in its beginnings and frowned on by high and low alike, it has made its way through despondence and gloom to the realization of scarcely harbored expectations and the sunshine of public favor. Women in Britain are, indeed, still militant, but they are also largely triumphant. Most of the shackles that bound them have long since thrown off, and Saturday's demonstration is intended merely as an effective method of placing the coping stone on the temple of success which their determination and their ability, as well as their patriotism, have enabled them to build. The vote they have already won; all they now seek is an equalization of the voting age for men and women. Their case is so good, their arguments are so logical, and public opinion is so much on their side, that there is hardly a doubt that they will succeed in carrying their present small but important objective.

One reason why women gamblers are less careful than men is because it's easy to bet something you don't have to earn.

PRACTICAL AID TO FARMERS.

As an illustration of the practical manner in which the government can aid the American farmers, it may be stated that the Departments of Agriculture and Commerce have obtained from the United States Shipping Board the use of 27 Shipping Board vessels now ready, and 32 more to be put in readiness, for the immediate shipment to Europe of surplus wheat from the United States.

It appears that the growers and shippers of American wheat have been unable this season to obtain vessels at Gulf or Atlantic ports for the shipment of wheat, because other freights have been attractive and more remunerative.

Here is a demonstration of the effective and efficient employment of the United States merchant marine. It is expected that employment of these vessels will save the growers and shippers of American wheat much money by way of reduction in freight. When privately owned vessels can not or will not take American wheat for foreign ports, the government is justified in tendering its own vessels.

So Pilsudski raises bees. It must bore him stiff when they aren't stinging anybody.

POLITICS IN NEW JERSEY.

There can be no question of issues between the Republicans and Democrats of New Jersey. Both parties met in State convention on Tuesday and adopted platforms which are directly opposite in their pronouncements. The Republican convention declared for a bone-dry policy and for a return to the convention system of nominating candidates for office, while the Democrats adopted a winking-wet plank and endorsed the primary. The issues, therefore, are sharply drawn. No questions apparently are of greater interest to New Jersey voters than these two, and while there will be no general election of State officers or a United States senator this year, there is sure to be a lively campaign.

In one respect the Democrats appear to have a distinct advantage over their Republican opponents. The latter have been widely split over the question of the primary. Senator Edge, titular leader of the Republican organization, and former Gov. Stokes have led the fight against the primary and for the convention system, while former Senator Frelinghuysen and Hamilton S. Kean have been actively supporting the primary, aided by women leaders. The contest, which has been waging for months, has caused considerable bitter feeling which threatens to be carried into the election. Former Gov. Stokes is so strongly opposed to the primary that he declared the Senate investigation of the recent Pennsylvania primaries for United States senator would result in the ousting of Representative Vare should he be elected. On the other hand, the Democrats are in complete harmony, and while there is undoubtedly a strong sentiment in New Jersey against the primary, even among some Democrats, the party will present a united front in the election, and will doubtless depend for success largely upon its declaration for a repeal of the Volstead act and the State enforcement law. New Jersey has gone Democratic repeatedly on the prohibition issue. Senator Edwards was elected governor almost wholly on his opposition to the eighteenth amendment and was chosen senator on the same issue. The present governor, A. Harry Moore, also won on a wet platform. It would appear, therefore, that New Jersey can be numbered among the wet States, and unless the voters have a change of heart in November, New Jersey will record another Democratic victory this year.

You can easily tell where a man lives if you can learn what he wants a tariff on.

ITALY'S EXPERIMENT.

Italy's economic problem is serious. There is no doubt now that the representations of its officials to the United States war debt commission were based on facts, and the Treasury will be fortunate if it finally obtains the money called for in the debt agreement.

Italy proposes to inaugurate a campaign to expand its international trade, strengthen the lira and establish an era of the strictest economy.

Italy's foreign trade last year was eight billion lire against her. It is proposed to reduce this adverse balance by increasing the day's labor in all industrial establishments by one hour, prohibiting luxuries, utilizing Italy's natural products, and protecting Italy's industries.

It is proposed to limit newspapers to six pages, to prohibit the opening of new cafes, eating houses and hotels, to prohibit the building of pretentious private dwellings, to reduce the price of building materials, and to promote the production of metals in Italy.

This program disregards ordinary economic laws governing production and competition; but perhaps it is justified because of the crisis that exists in Italy. If the people retain the discipline established by Premier Mussolini, and if he is spared to direct the experiment in person, the economic position of the country will soon show improvement.

THE POLLUTED POTOMAC.

District Health Officer William C. Fowler has given warning against the use of the Potomac river for bathing purposes because of the danger from contagious diseases. Dr. Fowler states that all the sewage from upper Maryland and West Virginia is dumped in the Potomac, and that although the water is partly purified in its journey toward Washington it still is contaminated beyond the degree of safety. The safest place to bathe in the river, he says, is above Georgetown, but while the chance of contracting disease in the waters of that part of the Potomac is not so great, there is serious danger because of the rapids.

Because the National Capital park and planning commission saw fit to disregard the law in selecting sites for the two bathing pools authorized by Congress, the House committee on appropriations refused to provide the funds for constructing public bathing pools. There is yet time for the Senate to make provision for these pools so necessary to the health and comfort of the people of Washington. An amendment to the deficiency bill providing the sum of $345,000, which was authorized by legislation already passed, and requiring the national park and planning commission to stick to the letter of the law in selecting sites, will make it possible for the work to be started so that Washington will have next year at the latest bathing pools that will not expose swimmers to the dangers that now confront them when they plunge into the unprotected waters of the polluted Potomac.

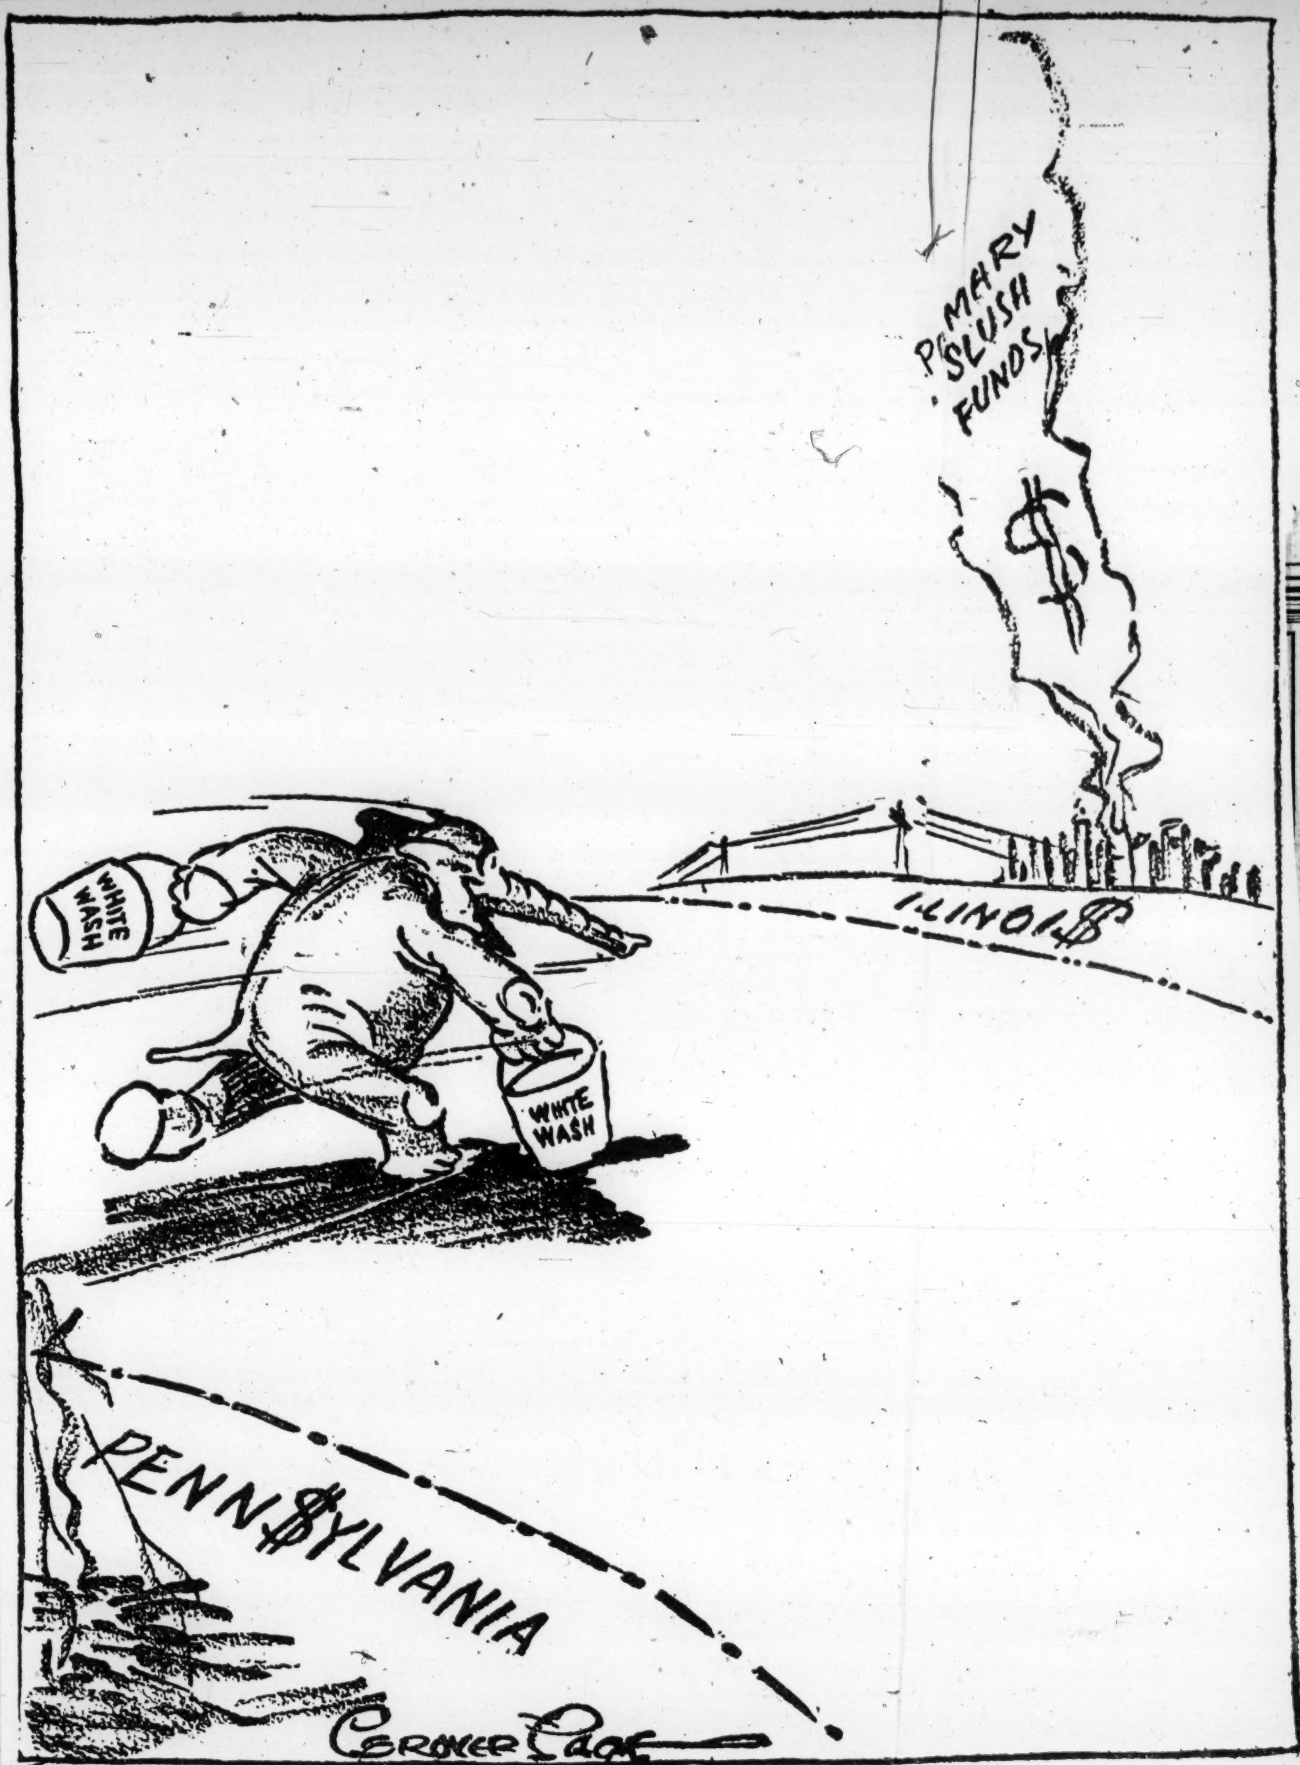

A pacifist, in the Balkans, may be one who hates only five or six nations.

The Worst Story I Heard Today—By Will Rogers

The Worst Joke I heard today was told to me by Ambassador Fletcher, of Rome. This man Fletcher is just about the most pleasant and real fellow that we have representing us around in the wilds of Europe. He is what is called a real trained diplomat. But he is one of the few that was not spoiled in the making. He has been everywhere and speaks everything—including American, still. He was sent to Mexico during the days he told me he hissed him from the train to his house, and then stayed over to keep it up in case he missed any of it. He is over here, and Mussolini likes him—and say, while we are on the subject of Ambassadors, what's the matter with getting them some houses to live in? Every American expects to eat there, but he don't realize that it takes about all they make to even just pay rent. So get 'em some houses. So we can get the class of men to come that are fitted for it in some other than a financial way. This is a real Guy this Bird. He fought with Roosevelt's Rough Riders, and lives down in around Chambersburg, Pa. He can tell plenty stories, and here is one that he said Irvin Cobb told him.

A veteran regular army trooper was being carried back from the front in France, aided by a chaplain. "Well, Padre, I served in Cuba, the Philippines, and helped dodge old Geronimo. They shot things at you in all them wars. They didn't drop 'em on you. I hate to admit it. I would like to help out in anything we get into. But I am telling you confidential that this here is going to be my last World's War."

An Experiment In Trusting

By GLENN FRANK

ORGANIZED society ever tends to become organized suspicion. Man is inclined to mistrust men. We have a genius for doubting our fellows. Our capacity for confidence is limited. From the cradle of the nursery to the Congress of the nation, we indulge in the luxury of trust with reluctance. And yet faith in humanity is still the safest investment England suffered an irreparable loss in the death of Anderson of Oundle, one of the great schoolmasters of all time. Sanderson had a genius for trusting boys.

"The school workshops at that time were for the first time being left open to the boys," says one of his former pupils, in a great and glowing memorial volume called Sanderson of Oundle. "It was one of Sanderson's endless experiments in trusting his boys. Chemicals, tools, and apparatus were left available out of school hours, and one was led to suppose that a blind eye was turned to the use even at prohibited times such as Sunday. The most dangerous chemicals were of course removed, but enough was left to disturb the tranquility of other masters, who had less faith than Sanderson in it providence which looks after youth."

"I was doing some work one day and found myself viting to hammer a rivet on something. I found a large surface plate an extremely accurate and expensive item of equipment, and in my zeal it seemed to me the very thing on which to hammer a rivet. When had done the surface plate registered my vigor in some appreciable indentations."

"That did not disconcert Sanderson for a little while it was discovered. But my punishment was quite Sandersonian. I had to make a study of the manufacture and use of surface plates and bring a report and explain it all to him. And after that I found I had learnt to look twice at a fine piece of work before I used it ill."

But aside from such honest schoolboy mistakes, there was a deal of skylarking about the place and enough damage was done to the equipment of the school workshops to cause Sanderson to be faith in the boys for a time. He stopped his experiment of leaving the shops open to the boys out of school hours.

This stopped the skylarkers, but the majority of it boys who had profited so greatly by freedom to work under free conditions felt the loss keenly. And a group of them secretly made skeleton keys to the shops, and continued to spend hours in the workshop and laboratories while teachers and Sanderson were away or asleep. They were excessively careful of the equipment.

Sanderson seemed to know nothing of all this. He boys thought they had fooled him, until commencement day came and Sanderson, smiling at the parents, said, "And what do you thk my boys have been doing now?" And then he told the whole episode.

It can not be said too often that faith in humanity is the safest investment.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Looking for Trouble.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Is there any reason in law or ethics why one should not shoot some of these milkmen who awaken innocent people at all hours of night and morning from 2 to 6 o'clock? This sort of thing does not occur in other cities. I have lived in a number of other cities and I know. It seems to me that this outrage perpetrated by milkmen, evidently with the tacit support of the companies for which they work, can be ended effectively if a few determined citizens will band themselves into a group of vigilantes. If citizens in different parts of Washington would secure rifles and pick off a few of these noisy milkmen—say, about a dozen of them—I am confident that all the remaining milkmen of Washington would be very much quieter in the future. This is a cause well worth pushing through to realization. I need only a few good men or women to join with me. Will you call this to the attention of your readers?

Democrats and Coolidge.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: If you will kindly permit me, after thanking you for the interesting and informative editorial on "Farm Relief and Politics," I should like to venture a bit of inside information which will be as surprising to you as it will be to substantially every reader of current political affairs in our entire country and which very few will so fully comprehend as to believe. You say that "Democrats will not go very far to promote plans which merely aim to substitute another Republican President for Mr. Coolidge."

On the contrary, that is exactly what the older leading Democrats in the House of Representatives desire to promote and not a few of the Democrats in the Senate would be gratified to achieve.

The golden rule, in politics, is an evangelistic vision. Politics is the science of selfishness. What the older-in-service men hold most dear, prospectively, is not the election of a Democratic President but the chairmanships of standing committees. This is outstandingly apparent in the House; and is, in some cases, glaringly manifest in the Senate.

INCREASE INDICATED IN MOTORBUS FARES BY AUDIT OF BOOKS

Rapid Transit Co. Shown to Have Lost $24,000
in 4 Months.

DIRECTORS TO DECIDE COURSE TO BE TAKEN

10-Cent Straight Fare or "Service-at-Cost" Plan
May Be Requested.

Increase in fares on motor buses of the Washington Rapid Transit Co. looms in the near future, developments yesterday seemed to indicate.

The first of the year fares were reduced from five tokens for 45 cents to six for 50 cents. The reduction was experimental and was for a three-month period only. The cash fare remained at 10 cents.

Examination of the books of the company by Byars McK. Bachmann, accountant for the public utilities commission, resulted in a report made public yesterday, in which it was shown that the company had lost $24,000 in four months, nearly half of which was lost by operation of the line to Silver Spring, Md.

Directors to Decide Course.

The board of directors of the company will meet Friday at the New Willard hotel to decide whether to petition the commission for permission to raise the rate to a straight 10-cent cash fare without tokens or to apply for installation of a "service-at-cost" plan.

It was estimated yesterday at offices of the commission that a 10-cent cash fare would yield the company a return of around 12 per cent on its investment. The commission has an established policy of allowing only a 7 per cent return.

The North American Co., of New York, owns the bus line having bought it early in the year from the company headed by Leon Arnold. The same company is financially interested in the local street car companies. During recent efforts to bring about a merger of the street railways, the company officials asked members of the public utility commission if they would favor a "service-at-cost" plan of adjusting street car fares.

New Plan May Be Sought.

It is said that the commission did not take kindly to the proposal, seeing in it a certainty of resulting increased car fares. Whether they would favor the plan for motorbus operation has not been stated.

The bus fares were reduced during the winter because of the large profits attending the company's operations in 1925. The Bachmann report indicates, however, that a major item in the reduced return of bus operation was found in heavy replacement charges, due to run-down condition of equipment.

MRS. GWATHMEY WED TO ROBERT SIMPSON

Former Wife of Cotton Man,
Who Got 2 Divorces, Later
Obtained Own Decree.

New York, June 3 (By A. P.).—

Marriage of Mrs. Isabelle Gwathmey, first wife of Archibald B. Gwathmey, wealthy cotton broker, to Robert Middleton Simpson, a New York lawyer, was disclosed today. The service took place in the West End Presbyterian church yesterday, with only a few relatives and friends of the couple present.

The Gwathmeys were married in 1895 and separated in 1919. Gwathmey obtained two divorce decrees, one in Florida and the other in Texas. Mrs. Gwathmey subsequently filed suit for separation in New York, and this case was settled out of court. She then filed suit for divorce and won a decree. In 1924, Gwathmey married in Stamford, Conn., Mrs. Betsy Judd, named as correspondent by Mrs. Gwathmey.

"I have known Mr. Simpson for seventeen years," said the bride after yesterday's ceremony. "I am so happy. I think I deserve it after seven years of suffering."

Shaw Will Not Aid Women in Politics

London, June 30 (By A. P.).—

George Bernard Shaw is determined that there shall be no doubt as to his attitude toward political movements by women. For a second time he has declined to aid them in their fight to do away with the suffrage law which prevents them from voting until they are 30 years old.

Replying to a request that he aid the equal political rights, his secretary writes:

"Mr. Shaw desires me to say that women must fight their own battles. He is not to be lured into the ridiculous position of their male champion."

The letter suggests that women agitate for raising the voting age of males to 30 years.

BUDLONG RELATES FAILURE TO ASCEND TO NEWPORT'S SET

Thwarted Social Campaign
Detailed in New Yorker's
Suit for Divorce.

SAYS WIFE'S CLOTHING
LEFT HIM $2,580 DEFICIT

Declares T. Sufferin Tailor
Declined to Carry Out
Golf Course Pact.

Newport, R. I., June 30 (By A. P.).—Details of a thwarted campaign against the stony front of Newport were told today by Milton J. Budlong, wealthy New Yorker, in his suit for divorce. He alleges cruelty on the part of Mrs. Jessie Wilson Budlong, who achieved the first pages some months ago by barricading herself in their New York residence and throwing from the window appealing notes pinned to her husband's shirts.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Sufferin Tailor, prominent among the Newporters, failed to carry out an agreement to assist Mrs. Budlong's social aspirations, the petitioner declared his wife told him, after her campaign against the turreted walls of the resort's society defenses had failed.

Wife Snubbed He Says.
Instead, it is alleged, the Tailors snubbed Mrs. Budlong, even failing to invite her to play on their private golf course.

As a result of her demand for expensive clothing, Budlong testified his personal budget showed $2,580 on the red side in 1921, although his income that year was far in excess of previous years.

The Tailor's private golf course was declared to have figured in the offensive-defensive social alliance between that couple and Mrs. Budlong. The husband declared that when he and his family came to Newport and bought the "Reef" estate from Tailor, he agreed to return part of the estate to Tailor for a golf course, and the latter in return was to aid in advancing the Budlongs socially.

When Tailor pressed him to fulfill his part of the pact, Budlong testified, his wife demurred, asserting that Tailor had failed to live up to his contract.

Another part of the Budlong social plans, the petitioner testified, was to protect their daughter at the court of St. James in England. Mrs. Budlong wished to take the daughter to England, but the husband said he pointed out it would be best to move from Southampton to Newport as an initial step in obtaining Miss Budlong an audience with royalty.

SOUTH ROUTE CHOSEN FOR LEE BOULEVARD

Time on to Falls Church will be decided later, Dr. Johnson said. Opponents of the southern route declared that the 7-mile route announced by Dr. Johnson is at least 2 miles longer than would be necessary if the road followed a straight line, passing through Clarendon and other towns.

Expecting that the southerly route would be chosen, two groups of citizens in Arlington county held meetings Tuesday night to protest against a decision at this time.

The Lyon Village Citizens association adopted a resolution against the selection of the southerly route on the ground that it would not afford the thickly populated centers of the county a direct approach to the bridge. The association endorsed the "straight to the bridge" route.

The Straight-to-the-Bridge Boulevard association, composed of citizens desiring a direct route from the Arlington Memorial bridge to Falls Church, meeting in Clarendon, adopted a resolution saying that the matter of selecting a route should be publicly debated so as to obtain the views of the residents of Arlington.

On the other hand, the Arlington Citizens association, meeting in the Columbia schoolhouse, endorsed the southerly route.

In announcing the selection of the southerly route, Dr. Johnson declared that it was favored by the State highway commission engineers and landscape architects.

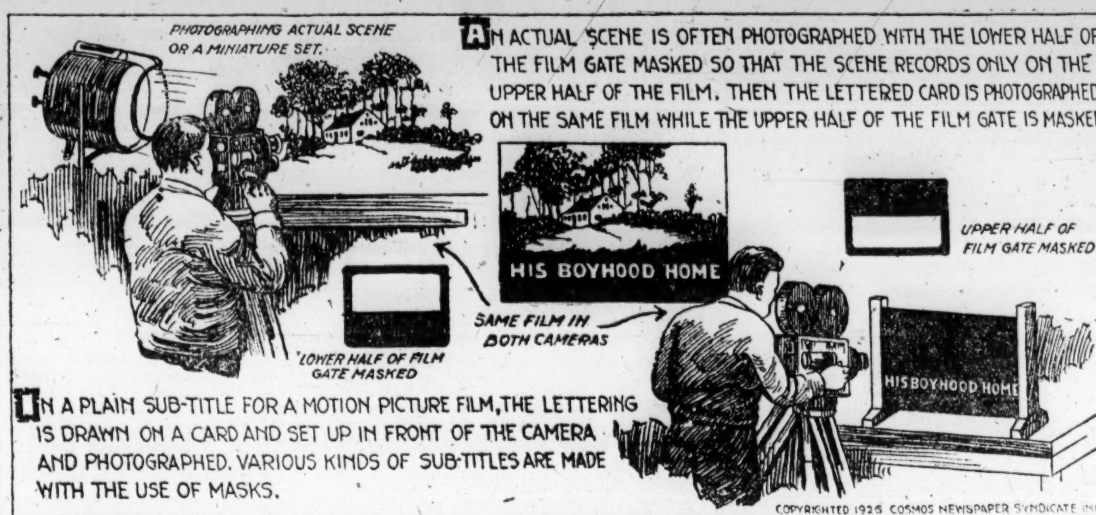

Preliminary work on the boulevard will begin immediately, Dr. Johnson said. A survey of the 200-foot strip of land will be the first step. This strip will be marked at intervals with grade stakes bearing the words, "200-foot right of way for Lee boulevard."

Coincident with this work will be the preparation of plans and specifications, not only for the 60-foot central speedway and the two 30-foot strips for slow travel, but also for the strips on either side of the speedway and between the slow travel pavements and the curb.

Property owners along the southerly route, Dr. Johnson added, have promised to erect houses and lay out landscapes in keeping with the beautiful character of the boulevard itself. Some, he said, had agreed to construct at their own expense an 18-foot concrete strip as a part of the permanent paving.

Dr. Johnson said he expected the full cooperation of all the citizens

Damage to $85 Suit Will Cost Man $145

George W. Quigley, colored truck driver of Georgetown, was sentenced yesterday by Justice Stafford in criminal court to spend $145 as an indirect result of a grouch he acquired on April 5 last when some corn whisky was spilled on his $85 suit of clothes. He will have also to report regularly to Amos A. Steele, probation officer, for a period of three years—a sentence of this length being suspended on his plea of guilty to a charge of mayhem.

Of the sum of $145, John Jones, also colored, will need $25 to reimburse him for the outlay for a glass eye and the other $120 will be used to defray Jones' hospital and doctor bills. Jones and Quigley struggled for possession of a half gallon jar of corn whisky, the record shows, and the jar was emptied on Quigley's best clothes. He resented this by hurling the jar at Jones, striking him in the eye. The eye was taken out.

F. Cunliffe-Owen, 72, Diplomat, Author, Dies

New York, June 30 (By A. P.).—Frederick Cunliffe-Owen, author and former British diplomat, died of pneumonia tonight at his home here. He was in his seventy-second year. He was born in London, the son of Sir Philip Cunliffe-Owen. He served in the British diplomatic service and played an important part in the first British occupation of Egypt.

Coming to the United States in the eighties, he won recognition as a writer on European affairs, and was on the staff of the New York Tribune and later of the New York Times.

He was a commander of the Order of the British Empire and an officer of the Legion of Honor. Mr. Cunliffe-Owen is survived by his widow, formerly the Countess Marguerite du Planty de Sourdis, of France.

Mr. Cunliffe-Owen for years contributed articles to The Washington Post under the names of "Ex-Attache" and "Marquise de Fontenoy."

Deep Sea Fishing Pictures Are Shown

Motion pictures of deep-sea fishing, directed by Capt. James B. Vreeland, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., were shown in the auditorium of the National museum yesterday to employees of the Smithsonian Institution.

The pictures were described by Capt. Vreeland. The sailfish, a species of swordfish, was declared to be the gamest fish that can be caught with rod and reel.

The new prestige in motoring

Hupmobile Eight Becomes the Center of a Rising Aristocracy Grouped Around Its Superior Principle

The day is passing when price and name alone are reason enough for distinction in motor car ownership.

It began to pass with the coming of the beautiful Hupmobile Eight—the new interpretation of a superior engineering principle—and its going is being accelerated with every passing month.

There is a rising aristocracy of motoring, now, and it centers around the Hupmobile Eight.

It is an aristocracy which grants allegiance to a principle—to the newest and best as expressed in super-excellent quality and performance—as well as to a fine and distinguished name.

Its ranks are made up of those who instinctively take unto themselves the finer and better things of life.

And it has given over the idea that mere high price, unsupported by other eminent and superior elements, is the beginning and the end of prestige.

So it is today a mark of distinction to own and drive the Hupmobile Eight.

Not alone for its illustrious name.

Not alone for its beautiful coachwork.

But also for its magnificent performance, and the fact that eminent engineers pay it the honor of terming it the most perfect development of the straight-eight principle in America.

The first time you drive the Hupmobile Eight yourself, you will understand the subtle change that is taking place among buyers of the finer cars, and why it is taking place.

For you will find in this beautiful Eight the final luxury of smooth motoring—

A rhythm of engine action and road action that leaves you eager to go on, even at the end of a long day's tour—

A car so fine in every phase and detail of behavior that you would invent reasons for quite unnecessary trips here and there, in town and country, just for the pleasure of driving it or riding in it.

You still are subject to the thrill of being away first at the traffic signal; of sailing up a hill as though it wasn't there at all, of taking the rough stretches surely and smoothly without relaxing your pressure on the throttle.

You still like to swish in and out and around—when you can—and the quick-footedness of this Eight means all of that; with brake deceleration the full match for its remarkable acceleration.

Even if this Eight were not the sleek, beautiful thing that it is, its magnificent smoothness and performance would give you pause, were you to consider some other type at some other price.

But with its beauty, and with everything that its perfected straight-eight principle means in luxury and in distinction, there remains no alternative—everything points to the Hupmobile Eight for your car.

La Vigne Tells Lions Of Convention Bureau

The birth and growth of the convention-getting business to its present proportions was traced by C. E. La Vigne, director of the Washington convention bureau, speaking yesterday at the Lions club luncheon in the Mayflower hotel.

The director said that 50 progressive cities today support convention bureaus with generous appropriations. He stressed the highly competitive nature of the business and pointed out some of the accomplishments of the local bureau. T. W. Brady, president of the club, presided and introduced the speaker. Vocal selections were sung by Ambrose Durkin, accompanied at the piano by Miss Margaret Davis.

"TIGER" Ginger Ale

pared in this fashion, and you will, I am convinced, never consider cooking them in water again. They will cook in practically the same length of time that they require for the old way, and they will bear rather close watching and a bit of stirring up until you have become accustomed to the heat regulation.

Our second question is about budgets. They are like people's shoes, Mrs. Jannis, and should be tried on. Will you, therefore, come to the studio, or, rather, send us a coupon that we may send you an appointment card, and let us go into the matter of budgeting with the view of creating a budget suitable to your particular needs?

Now then our menu—or menus—for today.

MENU
Dinner
Clear soup
Crackers
Lamb filets, sauteed
Creamed potatoes
String beans
Dressed lettuce
Peaches with cream
Iced coffee
or Cafe Noir.

Lamb Filets, Sauteed.
Remove the bones from 2½ pounds of lamb cut from the fore quarter of the animal and cut the meat into strips or narrow pieces about three-quarters of an inch to an inch in thickness. With a broad-bladed instrument of some order flatten these pieces somewhat, and then arrange them on a plate in a manner to facilitate covering them with a dressing made of vinegar and oil, equal parts, a small white onion, either grated or ground, and a bit of parsley chopped very fine, and, of course, the necessary salt and pepper. Pour this dressing over the lamb and allow it to remain over night or all day covered closely. Then, just before serving sautee them in just sufficient butter to prevent their sticking to the hot frying pan into which they are dropped. Our creamed potato dish, long a part of our menus, will require no explanation, nor for that matter, any other item of this dinner. The luncheon menu that we have prepared is simple in detail and the main dish may be prepared either from ham that is in the larger or a very few slices purchased for the purpose.

MENU
Luncheon
Creamed ham on toast
Vegetable salad
Hot biscuit
Iced tea
Berries with cream.

Creamed Ham on Toast.
Dice at least one cup of cold boiled ham and set aside. Place one tablespoonful of butter in a frying pan and allow it to melt. Add to this butter one tablespoonful of flour, a fourth teaspoonful of salt and a few grains of pepper. Rub the flour into the melted butter and do not place the pan over the fire until these two ingredients are very smooth and sufficient milk has been added to prevent the flour making a hard paste. Gradually add milk until a whole cup has been used and then, stirring constantly, cook over a slow flame until the sauce thickens. Add the ham to the sauce, and add one hard cooked egg that has been forced through a sieve. Serve on toasted squares of bread from which the crusts have been removed.

Summertime vegetable salad as a luncheon dish is very nearly indispensable, for like the coat of many colors, almost anything may go into the composition. Use, preferably, the vegetables that remain from the dinner once removed, and if necessary add a tomato to round out the quantity. If there are no vegetables at hand, the contest salad that is to follow may be used. And may I add that should your last dinner have afforded spinach, and should that worthy vegetable prove the only "leftover," a delicious salad may be evolved with the addition of nothing more elaborate than a hard-cooked egg and French dressing.

A drink of most delicate flavor when taken alone, the Pale Dry Clicquot also blends its subtle personality perfectly with other drinks. The Golden Clicquot is of more pronounced flavor, the famous drink that has made ginger ale America's most popular beverage. The Clicquot Club Company, Millis, Massachusetts.

IN her book "Etiquette," which is the unquestioned authority on correct table appointments and usage, Mrs. Post says:

"A water glass standing alone at each place makes a meager and untrimmed-looking table."

As a beverage Mrs. Post suggests serving ginger ale either alone or combined with other beverages or fruit juices.

When asked which ginger ale she considered best, Mrs. Post unhesitatingly said Clicquot Club Pale Dry. She said:

"I think Clicquot Club Pale Dry is much the nicest ginger ale I have ever tasted. It is attractive in color, tempting, sparkling, and delicious in flavor. In fact, it seems to complete the hospitable effect of a perfectly appointed table."

WIVES OF TOMORROW

By FRANCES McDONALD

Measles and Loves.

DEAR Miss McDonald: I have a problem which, I hope, you may be able to advise me in. Ever since last December I have liked a boy who attends the same school that I do. He is a lot different from the other boys, as he is somewhat bashful. And seems to have sort of an inferiority complex. I come from one of the best New England families which can be traced back to the early seventeenth century; my mother is rather conservative and resents my liking this boy because there is this difference in social standing. I call it nothing, as I have always been very democratic, but it means a lot to my mother.

Do you see any reason why I shouldn't continue my friendship with him? School-day love affairs are not serious. Why shouldn't he be allowed to call as the others are? I know as a lover he would never be suitable, of course, but he means a lot to me, and I know that he likes me. You can always tell. Don't you think you can, Miss McDonald? Now I know he could never really be anything more than a friend. But lately he has been very cool, because I have been seen with other boys, but I really like him the best. I think that I should have some other friends and the pleasure of some one else's company, although it really isn't pleasant to me without him. Please advise me, Miss McDonald, to the best of your ability, for I am unhappy—and he is jealous.

GLORIA.

Well, now let's see, first you say it is just friendship, and there is nothing at all for mother to take seriously—and then before I turn the page you are telling me that the boy is jealous and that for you there is no pleasure in going with any one else. How glad I am, I am not a mother!

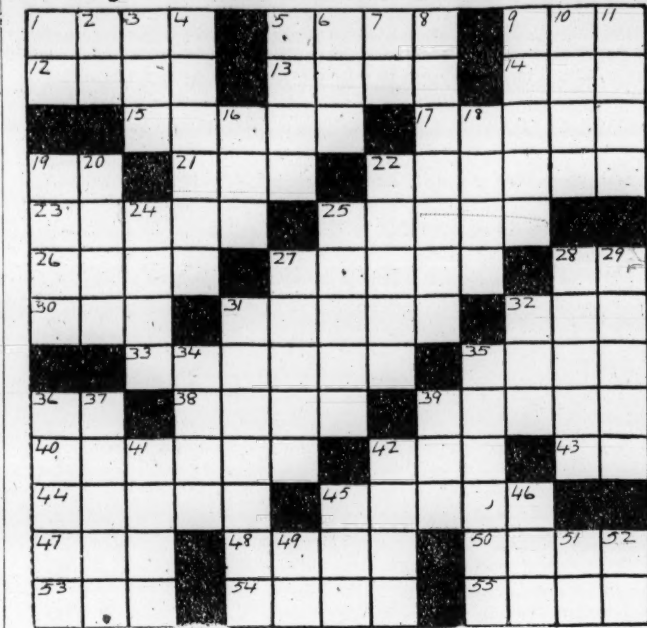

Listen, Gloria, in very truth the loves of our school days are not serious, if we have the right sort of help as we go through them. Just as the love of childhood are not serious if we have the proper help going through them. But school loves—misunderstood can be quite as devastating as measles wrongly diagnosed are. At present you are intrigued, not so much by this boy as by the fact that he has become a cause for you to champion. How do I know?

Because I, too, had just such a job of championing on my hands all through junior year. He worked after school for our ice man. Oh yes, it sounds very funny to you—doesn't it? Well, I was red-eyed for a week over it—that's how funny a high school love can be. He asked me to the ball game. So did a bespectacled Percy who lived next door. I was told I could go with the Percy or stay at home. The Percy didn't play ball—and Denny did. I can see now that Denny was a sight to make any mother quail. But in school Denny was of importance—captain of the team—and when we were graduated, he headed the class but he never washed inside his collar. However, I overlooked that. He was big and seemed older—you know the type! And I liked it that he liked me. I knew he didn't want a girl to go to like a girl. So I wanted him and only him. And he yelled "ice man" all afternoon at the top of his lungs all over town. He just loved being the ice man.

And I was told I could lead Percy to the game or stay at home. Gloria, that is several years ago. "Denny" weighs 200 pounds and owns an ice plant. Denny would not know me now if we met on the street—and I only know about him from his name on the side of the ice plant and his pictures in the paper when he runs for alderman back home. But my feeling for Denny was serious because it was upsetting. I allowed it to become upsetting. Instead of saying "I'm silly about this, like a baby wanting something just because it's bad for me"—I said to myself, "I'll have that or I'll yell and show them." It was bad for me. It was upsetting. It was serious. Your boy is all right. But mother sees how he may become an upsetting episode in your girlhood. Be guided. Be sensible. Don't yell and show them.

The fact that the boy is jealous proves how right your mother probably is in her estimate of him. It wasn't really the ice wagon that worried my mother, but the unsuitability—and my intensity on the subject. Mothers are marvelous things—they know so much! Let yours be guided! For even measles can be serious!

FIRST FIND THE CHINTZ

It all began with a bit of chintz—a soft blue ground with a rather formal design in peach, yellow, rose and pale green. Out of that grew the walls of this delicately restful bedroom—painted a warm yellowish pink with woodwork to match.

Now—what shade for the bed, which was one of twins? Why, soft green with blue lines, the blue of the chintz. What shade for the bedspread? The same blue, in sun-fast taffeta, scalloped and bound in peach. Green for the chair, with gold stripings. Could you go to sleep in such a rainbow room? If so, your dreams would be sure to be colored like a fairy tale.

BEAUTY AND YOU

HOW TO OVERCOME LARGE PORES.

By Viola Paris.

THERE is nothing more distressing or more disfiguring to a pretty face than enlarged pores in the skin. Too often, we don't notice them until they are quite bad, and then we are quickly disheartened because they don't yield to a few days' treatment.

Of course, large pores won't grow smaller all of a sudden. To begin with, they are stubborn things, and then, too, think how long they have been developing. It takes persistence to be rid of them. What are you using to clean your face? If by any chance it has been a heavy cold cream, discontinue it immediately. Substitute either a very light cream of the kind that dissolves almost instantaneously into a penetrating oil, or even better, use a liquid cleanser. Give up all greasy, fatty preparations.

After cleansing the face, you may use warm water and a washcloth, if you like, but always finish with plenty of very cold water. A little ice rubbed over the skin makes a good natural tightener.

Have you been using an astringent? If not, I should advise you to begin at once. Form the habit of never cleansing the face without using an astringent tonic afterward. It can be a lotion made by some specialist of good repute, or you can simply prepare it yourself by adding a few drops of tincture of benzoin to the cool water in which you bathe your face.

Don't use a cream before powdering, for it is apt to clog the pores. And be sure to choose a very fine powder and always apply it lightly. Put on a surplus of powder and then dust it off, rather than use

THE ART OF COUGHING.

I SPENT yesterday visiting consumptives in a resort district in the Southwest. None of these people was in a sanitarium. As has been the case so frequently before, I observed the sensible way in which they coughed. When the impulse came, they coughed quietly, raised the irritating sputum, disengaged it into a cloth or paper; little noise, little effort, almost complete relaxation, no useless jerking or pounding of the lungs, no rasping of the vocal cords.

The time when one could tell a sanitarium consumptive from the other kind by the way he coughed; not so now, at least in a resort region. It may be that all the consumptives in a resort have been trained in the gentle art of coughing. At any rate, a large proportion of them have had such training, and they in turn have trained others. However it came about, the people in resort regions know and practice the art.

Last night, somewhere on our sleeper, there was a man who did not know this art. The consequence was that he awakened many people. He may or may not have been a consumptive. His cough was harsh, loud and unproductive. Something irritated his bronchial tubes, and he kept on coughing. The coughing irritated his bronchial tubes, and he kept on coughing. The coughing irritated his bronchial tubes, and he kept on coughing.

The cough did not sound like one caused by sputum. It had the characteristics of a cough that was never intended to produce sputum. Plainly of subconscious irritation of some sort started this man. The irritation kept up; so did the coughing. The man became mentally irritated. He got mad about it. His mind tried to help out his automatic coughing apparatus. Presently the man he worked himself up into a mental and physical frenzy.

Let us hope he had no serious trouble either in his throat, his lungs or his blood vessels. The kind of coughing he was doing irritated his throat. It could easily lay the foundation for an infection there or, if there was a tubercular throat infection, it would make it worse.

Hard coughing such as he was engaged in would be very harmful to diseased lungs. If he had diseased blood vessels, such coughing might break one. If the broken vessel happened to be in the lungs, a hemorrhage would be the result; if in the brain, an attack of apoplexy.

By contrast with this man on the sleeper, the consumptives that I saw had wisdom. They knew the danger. They knew about their damaged lungs and the danger to their throats. They had seen consumptives have hemorrhages. In consequence they had learned the art of coughing. They resisted the desire to cough uselessly. When there was something to be raised they coughed, but in a restrained, relaxed fashion. They never got mad about it and tried to bring up their boots. And when sputum was raised it was deposited in a safe place.

—As for belts, the more said about them the better.

PARIS, in her study of the American girl, has discovered an entirely new sports costume tucked safely away in an old-time photograph of the Gibson girl. Of course when Paris finished re-touching this print she left only a mere suggestion of its prototype. But it is there—the tuck-in shirt, the separate skirt and the belt that holds them both together—and we hear that for summer outdoor activity this is the last word in chic.

GALLI'S FIRST TRIUMPH WAS WON AT CARNIVAL

Premiere Danseuse, at 7, Danced With the Grace of Years of Training.

THEN STUDIED AT MILAN

Milan, June 30 (By A. P.).—Winning recognition as an accomplished dancer at the age of 7 years paved the way for Rosina Galli to her present position of premiere danseuse and ballet mistress at the Metropolitan Opera house in New York.

The danseuse, who is here on vacation, has returned to the scene where, as a little girl, she was taken as a guest to attend a carnival in which prizes for dancing were to be awarded. The lure of the music carried her into the contest, where she danced with the grace and ease of one with long years of training. Miss Galli received first prize.

Interested patrons suggested that she study for the professional stage. Born of religious parents it was hard to win their permission, but by promises that she would "be good," she finally attended La Scala in Milan, completing in six years a course which usually took ten.

Miss Galli made many public appearances in Milan, Naples, London and other cities of Europe, and at the age of 15 came to the United States. She signed with the Chicago Opera company and continued there until the outbreak of the world war.

Then followed an invitation from Gatti-Casazza, general manager of the Metropolitan, and she became a member of the ballet. Capable of teaching the ballet school, Miss Galli was given this opportunity during the absence of the teacher. The latter's death gave her full charge of the class.

felt hat to match, trimmed with a darker shade of green. Wear brown leather shoes to match your brown leather belt.

But, of course, the piece de resistance is the dress itself. It has a complete coat part attached at the yoke band in front, so it gives the effect of an ensemble. The two-piece front has a lining back, and the coat swings free, so you won't be too hot. Such a costume is sufficiently tailored to wear in town, though it's also ideal for the country.

Thank you for the compliment, Eugene. One gets too few of them in this hurry-up old world! We hope to repay you by picking out a dress you'll really like—green, friska, cool and young, with a green powder too sparingly and than grind it into the pores.

Dear Vogue: I want a dress for the country, a bit different from the eternal two-piece all my friends are wearing. I like green. And please tell me just what to wear with it—I find your advice so helpful.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

FAILING MEMORY.
I am a most forgetful man.
Of that there is no doubt;
I have no certain memory plan
To help me out.

I can't remember names at all,
Familiar faces change;
Sometimes a friend who comes to call
I look upon as strange.

Engagements slip my foolish mind;
A hundred times or more
I've gone to banquets but to find
They were the night before.

And O the woe, and O the grief,
That such a mind entails;
There is no balm and no relief
When memory fails.

But worse than all things else is when
A two-foot putt should fail;
I get the line and shutters and then
Forget to hit the ball!

Conduct and Common Sense

By Anne Singleton.

IT has been said that every householder should sleep once each season in the spare bedrooms to see what—if anything—is wrong with them. Perhaps it's not necessary to go as far as that, but certainly the housekeeper should cast an eye over each room before a guest comes to occupy it. Shutters, if there are shutters (and miserably do some of us suffer in rooms without them), ought to be opened and shut to be sure they will shut and open. Or blinds, if there are blinds, should be tested for their often unruly springs, and we might say the same for the beds—which should not, if it can be avoided, directly face the window. There should be some means of making a light at night near the bed. There should be a good light, both day and night, at the dressing table. The bathroom soap and towel should not be overlooked. If every guest room has not its own bath-

Here's a Plant Stand

Why take for granted that every plant needs just a jardiniere to make it happy? Here's a plant that naturally demands a stand from which to flaunt its long, graceful streamers as it looks out through the sunny window, curtained in peach color.

The stand is painted bluish green, and there's another one just like it facing the second window. The very lines of such a slender thing are like a bird singing in that room.

room, which in a great many houses is not possible to manage, then it can usually be arranged that two women or two men shall share the nearest. If there is only one bathroom for several rooms, guests must take their turns, as passengers do on shipboard. In many great French and English country houses, the turn at the bath is still the custom.

Never put two girls into a room together, or two men into a room together, or a married couple with a room together unless you are absolutely sure they prefer it. On occasions, people may not mind being so crowded. But, generally, they detest it.

MODISH MITZI

By Jay V. Jay.

MITZI doesn't see the Washington Monument today either. Such a delightful young man and how lucky that his mother is a second cousin of Aunt Sophia's husband! Mitzi doesn't see the monument. We hate to report that Mitzi doesn't see the ballbuntal hat to her left either. Of the smart coat to her right. Nor yet the trim frock of Chinese damask following the coat dress. Nor yet anything much that could be called scenery.

(All rights protected by The George Matthew Adams Service—Trade Mark Registered U. S. Patent Office.)

She hasn't mentioned that she saw these things before, because, of course, she didn't really see them. She doesn't see the Battle Monument today. She doesn't even see the perfectly stunning silk ensemble with the long cape and wide belt. And being perfectly fair to both it is questionable whether all the looking the young man does—and he does most of it in Mitzi's direction—is going to give him a single idea about her high-crowned hat.

Canadians Say Guard Craft Opened Fire Less Than 2 Miles From Shore.

DOMINION HOLDS VESSEL

Buffalo, N. Y., June 30 (By A. P.).—Four members of the crew of the coast guard cutter C. G. 2205 and two men operating an alleged Canadian rum runner out of Port Colborne, engaged in a battle Monday night in which a dozen shots were fired, it became known today. Both boats were beached. The clash occurred in Canadian waters, it is alleged.

Reports of the incident, decided by at variance, have been made by Ralph Crowley, superintendent of the coast guard in this district, and Clarence Catherwood, customs officer at Port Colborne, who made investigations for the respective governments.

With Catherwood's report to the deputy minister of customs at Ottawa went the stories of G. Marr and Amos Vanderveer, the occupants of the Canadian boat. Crowley sent to Washington the stories told by the crew of the cutter.

Marr and Vanderveer charge that the C. G. 2205 fired at them 1½ miles off Point Abino light, well within Canadian waters.

The crew of the coast guard boat told Capt. Daley, their chief, that they came upon the alleged rum boat in American waters and did not fire on it until the boat started away with one of their numbers on board.

Capt. Daley said that calls to the Canadian boat to lay-to were ignored and that the alleged rum runners finally rammed the American.

One of the coast guard who jumped aboard the Canadian boat, said he was overpowered. It was only then the coast-guard crew reported, that shots were fired.

"My men would not have followed the boat into Canadian waters except to rescue their companion," Capt. Daley said.

While the American boat was near the beach, Capt. Daley reports, a machine gun, two rifles, two revolvers and six pair of handcuffs were stolen and the engine damaged. Canadian officials, he said, refused to leave one of the American crew on guard.

ways, telegraphs, telephones and tobacco business, won't consider leasing these to foreign syndicates who guarantee enormous returns instead of the present losses; the right naturally is violently opposed to a levy on capital.

The only other possible solution, the pledging of the nation's $700,000,000 gold reserve for credits in New York and London, is bitterly assailed by both sides as the "Turkification" of France through permitting foreign powers to contaminate the country and interfere with its sovereign right. It is fully realized that both United States and English bankers would insist upon the strongest safeguards and controls before joining any tripartite accord to stabilize the franc, would demand the right to oversee the taxation and budgetary statistics and other domestic matters and would insist upon the government's execution of its program.

The experts' committee opposes utilizing the bank's bullion to save the franc, and it is believed that even a loan of $300,000,000 is inadequate safely to attempt stabilization. The franc fell almost a full point against the dollar today, once closely approximating 36.

Hotel Man Bankrupt.

Joseph Portner, trading as the Todd Shop for Men and as the Empire hotel, 623 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy yesterday. He also asks that a receiver be appointed to continue the hotel business. Through Attorney L. N. Kaplan, the debts were listed at $79,623 and assets at $74,003.

Center Marketers Indorse Bus Lines

One hundred and seventeen merchants in and around Center market yesterday petitioned the District public utilities commission to make permanent the present temporary routing of Burleigh and Chevy Chase motorbuses down Pennsylvania avenue. In their petition the merchants said: "It has become apparent to all who are in a position to observe these temporary routes, that if made permanent, they will be of utmost convenience to the public in putting them downtown on Pennsylvania avenue close to the greatest marketing center of the city."

Boy's Arm Broken in Collision.

Walter Estes, 14 years old, of 806 Twentieth street northwest, received a fractured left arm and bruises yesterday when his bicycle was in collision at Nineteenth street and Virginia avenue northwest with an automobile driven by Capt. H. F. Stafford, of 3731 T street northwest. Estes was taken to Emergency hospital by Capt. Stafford.

Engineman's Death Likely Wreck Cause

(By the Associated Press.) Failure of Engineman Gordon, of the Cincinnati limited, to control his train as required by automatic block signals was given by the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday as the cause of the wreck, June 16, of two Pennsylvania railroad passenger trains near Gray, Pa.

The failure on the part of the engineman, however, the commission's safety bureau reported, was believed to have been due to his "sudden death or physical incapacitation." The collision, which also involved the Washington express, resulted in the death of twelve passengers and four employees and the injury of 82 passengers and 4 employees.

Boy, 4, Hurt by Auto.

While playing in front of his home at 1734 V street southeast yesterday Calvert Downs, 4 years old, was struck and knocked down by an automobile driven by W. C. Tilghman, of 1314 W street southeast. The boy was taken to Casualty hospital by Tilghman and treated for slight bruises.

T. W. BRAHANY JOINS CRANE, PARRIS & CO.

Succeeds Booker and Myers,
Who Form Firm to Deal
in Securities.

NEW PEAK FOR CLEARINGS

By F. W. PATTERSON.

Simultaneously with the announcement yesterday of the withdrawal of George Hewitt Myers and Y. E. Booker from the investment banking firm of Crane, Parris & Co., to form a general partnership under the firm name of Y. E. Booker & Co., Eugene E. Thompson, senior partner of Crane, Parris & Co., declared that Thomas W. Brahany had been admitted to a partnership in the old firm.

Thomas W. Brahany, who came from Wisconsin to Washington some 20 years ago, has a wide acquaintance both in and out of the District. He has been prominent in public life, having been secretary of the old tariff board, and was an assistant secretary at the White House for both Presidents Taft and Wilson. He was also an active newspaper correspondent for some time. Later, he organized the firm of Thomas W. Brahany & Co., to deal in public utility securities, and his firm has been local correspondent for H. L. Doherty & Co. up to the present time. Mr. Brahany has always been active in civic matters and is president of the Lion's club. He is a member of the Gridiron, National Press, Racquet, Columbia Country and other clubs, and is affiliated with prominent organizations and fraternities.

New Firm Organized.

Under a general partnership, George Hewitt Myers and Y. E. Booker have organized the firm of Y. E. Booker & Co. for the purpose of carrying on an investment banking and brokerage business. The firm has taken offices in the Flather building, 1508 H street northwest, and will open for business on July 15.

Under the plans announced the new firm expects to participate in many important investment issues as they are brought out by the larger banking houses to the time, and through the membership of Mr. Booker in the Washington Stock Exchange the firm will handle transactions in local securities.

The formation of Y. E. Booker & Co. is but the fulfillment of the early predictions of many in the financial district, when Mr. Booker shed the mantle of financial editor of The Washington Post several years ago to become associated with Crane, Parris & Co. in the bond department. Mr. Booker, who is 37 years of age, came to Washington from his home in Amelia county, Va., in 1908, since which time he has won a place in the confidence of local bankers and enjoys a popularity in investment circles that is outstanding.

Mr. Myers is known as one of the city's leading financiers, having lived here since 1882, and has been a partner in Crane, Parris & Co. from 1892 up until yesterday. He is a director of the Union Trust Co., the Bristol-Myers Co. of New York; the Brunswick Peninsular Co., of Brunswick, Ga., and is associated with the firm of Benedict & Rue, forest engineers of Washington.

Mr. Myers has been a leader in civic affairs and at present is treasurer of the District of Columbia Boy Scouts and chairman of the board of governors of the Montessori school. He is a member of the Chevy Chase, Metropolitan, Cosmos and Riding and Hunt clubs.

Bank Clearings Show Gains.

With items passing through the Washington Clearing House in June totaling $128,361,071.78, a new all-time peak for local bank clearings in any month was attained. Oddly enough the previous record was made in June last year when clearings totaled $124,366,758.

The clearings for the month just ended show a gain of $3,994,313.54 over the preceding month, and compared with June last year, when the total of checks clearing reached $124,366,758, is an advance of $3,994,313.78.

Clearings by month this year and comparative figures for last year follow:

	1926	1925
January	$112,825,440.00	$109,562,616
February	$90,020,025.02	$89,621,370
March	$120,408,787.03	$110,920,979
April	$115,974,408.73	$112,300,002
May	$118,948,000.24	$115,295,005
June	$128,361,071.78	$124,366,758
Total	$690,688,449.70	$665,328,340

Comparative gain for six months this year over corresponding six months last year, $25,358,109.70.

per cent, payable July 2, to stockholders of record June 30.

W. R. & E. Preferred Stars.

Yesterday's session on the Washington Stock Exchange was quiet compared with the preceding days of the week, but despite this prices remained strong on issues traded in and bid quotations on shares in which no offerings were made were firm and in some instances fractionally up.

Washington Railway & Electric preferred was the stellar performer and opening an eighth up, two lots of 10 shares each changed hands at $8 3/4, when a further gain to $8 1/2 was accomplished with another two lots of 10 shares each being recorded sold at that level. Washington Gas Light again moved forward, 4 shares being sold at Tuesday's level of $9 1/4, and the closing transaction of 6 shares was recorded at $9 1/2. Potomac Electric Power interim certificates, sold in a small lot at 105 1/2.

Trading in the bond division was equally light, but an interesting transaction was the sale of Georgetown Gas Light 5s, which sold a 1/2 point up, at 98 1/2; as was the sale of Washington, Baltimore & Annapolis 5s, which moved at 66 1/2, an advance of 2 1/2 over last preceding sale.

New Issues Offered.

A syndicate composed of A. B. Leach & Co., Halsey, Stuart & Co., Federal Securities Corporation and H. L. Doherty & Co., are offering today a new issue of $6,000,000 Public Service Company of Colorado 20-year 6 per cent gold debentures, due May 1, 1946, at 99 and interest.

Public Service of Colorado is a subsidiary of Cities Service Power & Light Co., and is the largest gas and electric company operating in Colorado. The company serves Denver and a number of other cities in the State. The proceeds of this new issue provides the company with funds to retire all 7 per cent debentures outstanding, to purchase new properties, to reimburse the treasury for properties already purchased and for additions and betterments.

Earnings for the twelve months ended April 30 are reported to have been $10,402,498, and net earnings available for interest, Federal taxes and depreciation, $5,068,008.

Hibbs Back from Atlantic City.

William B. Hibbs, of W. B. Hibbs & Co., returned to the city yesterday following a sojourn of a few days at Atlantic City. He is planning to spend the triple holiday at his country home near Leesburg, Va.

Triple Holiday Ahead.

Except that the banks will remain open on Saturday the financial district will be deserted from Saturday until Tuesday morning. Due to the action of the New York Stock Exchange in declaring Saturday a holiday thus giving members and their employees a triple holiday, all local member houses will be closed for the same period, and with the Washington Stock Exchange not functioning on Saturday, dealers in local securities and traders will make the most of the three-day rest period.

While banks will observe the usual Saturday hours, they will be closed on Monday, July 5, which will be observed as a holiday in view of the fact that July 4 falls on Sunday.

Prosperous Months Ahead.

"While there are certain fundamental causes and effects in business fluctuations," said Capt. Julius Peyer, president of the Security Savings and Commercial Bank, yesterday when confronted with the record June figures for local bank clearings, "pathology also plays a part in sustaining or depressing the line of normality. As we enter the last half of 1926 it appears that both fundamental causes and business psychology point to prosperous months ahead."

COMMISSION ORDERS REDUCTION OF RATES ON STREET LIGHTING

Cut From 3 to 2 Cents an Hour Response to Mandate by Congress.

SAVING OF $60,000
MADE FOR DISTRICT

Money Will Be Expended for Additional Lamps; Hearings Today.

The public utilities commission yesterday issued a formal order reducing the rate to be paid to the Potomac Electric Power Co. by the District for electric current for street lighting to 2 cents a kilowatt hour, in compliance with the terms of the 1927 appropriation act. The commissioners then adjourned and met at the District board of commissioners and passed the order over again, to close all possible legal gaps.

Congress, in passing the District budget, attached a rider to the appropriation for street-lighting current, forbidding its expenditure at a rate exceeding 2 cents per kilowatt hour of the 1926 rate. This rate was 3 cents a kilowatt hour, but included certain charges for street lamp posts and fixtures and their maintenance, which will now be charged separately, so that the net reduction is around 12 1/2 per cent, as directed by Congress.

Savings for More Lamps.

It is estimated that the cut will result in a saving of $60,000 during the year to the District, which sum, it is planned, will be spent for additional street lamps.

The commission will hold a public hearing today, beginning at 10 a. m., to consider orders directing the Washington Railway & Electric Co. to substitute side for center trolley poles and the Potomac Electric Power Co. to place its wires underground in Georgia avenue northwest from W street to New Hampshire avenue.

Other items will be considered at the hearing, including replacement of rails in Twelfth street and C street northwest by the Washington-Virginia Railway Co., application by the Capital Traction Co. for permission to discontinue its motor bus line to the Rock Creek park golf links, rerouting of the far end of the East Washington motor bus line of the Washington Railway & Electric Co. and a petition by Petworth citizens to extend the motorbus line of the Washington Rapid Transit Co. beyond Sherman circle northwest.

SENATE COMMITTEE AND COAL DEALERS REACH AGREEMENT

Information to Be Given to Determine if Profiteering
Existed During Strike.

ACTION ON SUBPENAS NOW WILL BE DROPPED

Investigator to Audit Books and Make Report at Next Session.

Local coal dealers reached agreement with the Senate District committee yesterday by which the committee's investigator will give such information as he deems necessary in order to determine whether the dealers profited during the recent coal strike.

In view of the agreement acting against the dealers for refusing to comply Monday with committee subpoenas was dropped.

Under the terms of the agreement an examination of the dealers' books will be carried on by H. A. A. Smith, chief investigator of Comptroller General McCall's office, this summer and a report made to the committee at the next session.

The report which Mr. Smith will make will be based on cost and sales statements, which the dealers have heretofore indicated they would furnish, but in the substantiation of these statements, under the terms of the agreement yesterday, Mr. Smith will be permitted access to any and all of the books of the dealers.

Will Not Disclose Books.

He will not be permitted to disclose information contained in the general books, but will merely have access to them to determine if the cost and sales statements are correct.

This was the basis of the agreement reached by Mr. Smith and the dealers' representatives, and the committee amended the agreement to read that the report should cover the various types of coal. As a result the committee will be able to determine just how much profit the dealers made on the coal from the various fields—from the Potomantas and New River fields, for instance.

In order that there might be no misunderstanding, the agreement was written into the record. The meeting between the dealers and the committee was brief and cordial, in sharp contrast to the feeling which has been manifest heretofore.

For bringing the two groups together, credit was freely given to J. Maury Dove and A. P. Woodson.

Turns on Five Dealers.

The examination this summer will turn on the books of five representative coal dealers, whose names were submitted to the committee for approval. Their names are not to be made public, however, and the reports about their respective businesses will be identified as exhibit A, exhibit B and the like.

It is the plan not to embarrass any of the dealers by any possible disclosure of trade secrets.
